Engineer To Wed Joan Davis

Comedienne Joan Davis, star of television's 'I Married Joan', is pictured at Palm Springs, Cal., with Budd Stock, a safety engineer. She said they plan to be married 'very soon.' Miss Davis, a grandmother in real life, has been married just once. Stock, 29, is a bachelor. (AP Photofax)

Two Tankers Enter Canal, Four Follow

First Large Ships Use Suez As Last Barrier Removed

CAIRO (AP) — The two biggest tankers to use the Suez Canal since it was blocked last November entered the waterway at Port Said today — the first day the cleared channel was opened to ships of up to 20,000 tons.

One was the 19,318-ton Belgian tanker Elizabeth, the other the 20,776-ton Italian Pina. They were bound for Middle East ports to pick up oil. Four other smaller ships were in the south-bound convoy.

The first passenger vessel to use the canal since the British-French-Israeli invasion was due at Port Said later today to begin the 103-mile trip south to Suez. The ship is the 12,839-ton Italian liner Oceanica, headed for Australia with 809 passengers.

While whistles shrieked and hundreds of persons watched from the banks, U.N. salvage crews raised and towed away the sunken Egyptian frigate Abukir yesterday. That cleared the channel for all shipping adapted to its 34-foot depth.

The Egyptian Suez Canal Authority gave no indication when capacity operation would be resumed. Before the canal was blocked, ships of about 40,000 tons could go through.

The only task left for the U.N. salvage crews headed by American Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler was repair of lighting, communications and navigational aids and work on one wreck outside the channel.

The canal was reopened gradually with removal of sunken ships, damaged bridges and other debris that clogged it after the British, French and Israeli attack five months ago. Prior to removal of the Abukir, passage had been restricted to ships of 10,000 tons and less.

African Trains Collide, 24 Die

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Two crowded electric trains collided head-on late yesterday in a Capetown suburb, killing at least 24 persons. Scores were injured.

Large quantities of blood from white donors were rushed to the scene. An announcement from the official blood transfusion service later said that though only "white" blood was sent, it was available to all the injured regardless of race.

Texas Oilman Gives Church $2 Million After Big Deal

DALLAS (AP) — A Texas oilman turned over two million dollars to his church as a tithe yesterday after selling his petroleum company interests in a multimillion dollar deal.

Toddie Lee Wynne of Dallas, president of the American Library of Oil Co., signed final papers transferring Amilco stock to American Petroleum, Inc., of New York.

The gross transaction reportedly involved an estimated 35 million dollars. Spokesmen said Wynne would get about 20 million after payment of outstanding debts.

Jury Acquits Adams In Old Bailey Trial

LONDON (AP) — Dr. John Bodkin Adams was acquitted today of a charge of murdering an 81-year-old widow to get a chest of antique silver and a Rolls Royce from her estate.

Atty. Gen. Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller immediately quashed a secret indictment accusing Adams of killing a second wealthy patient last summer.

Dr. Adams was allowed to walk out of the courtroom on bail but he still has minor charges hanging over him of violating the cremation act.

The jury of 10 men and 2 women deliberated only 44 minutes in acquitting the 58-year-old bachelor of society doctor. The verdict ended a 17-day hearing in London's famed Old Bailey, the longest murder trial in British history.

Adams had been arrested after a prolonged Scotland Yard investigation into rumors that he had profited from the deaths of an unusual number of his wealthy aged patients in the seaside resort of Eastbourne.

The 260-pound, Irish-born doctor heard the verdict with the same composure that he had maintained throughout the trial. He had pleaded innocent to the charge but did not take the stand in his defense.

The prosecution contended that he had pumped massive doses of heroin and morphine into Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, turning her into a drug addict and finally ending her life.

A medical expert for the defense claimed that the threat was not unusual in such cases — Mrs. Morrell had suffered a stroke two years before her death in 1950 — and that Adams' treatment was intended only to ease her pain.

Mrs. Morrell's body was cremated after her death.

Crushed Finger Leads To Death, 4 Years In Coma

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Simon E. O'Banion is dead of pneumonia after spending almost four years in a coma after a finger amputation.

The 50-year-old Greenwich man, an employee of a moving firm, had crushed the finger while moving a piano.

After the operation June 13, 1953, Greenwich Hospital authorities said, O'Banion suffered a cardiac arrest. Surgeons opened his chest and massaged his heart which had been still for 2½ minutes. His life was saved, but he never recovered consciousness.

Wynne grew up as a Methodist but has been a member of the Presbyterian Church since 1925. He is a prominent layman.

Members of his family said they practiced tithing — the custom of giving a tenth or a specific share of wealth for religious or charitable purposes — for many years.

Dr. Hubert H. Hopper, director of the foundation, said $600,000 of the Wynne gift will be used for immediate financial help for three church institutions in Texas, and the rest would go to the endowment fund for use by various Presbyterian institutions in the state.

Storm's Toll Hits Six In Dixie Areas

Tornadoes Battered Carolina, Damage Seen In Millions

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Deadly tornadoes swirled across the Carolinas and Virginia last night after hitting three other Southern states earlier.

At least six were killed, all in North Carolina, and more than 150 were injured as business buildings and dwellings were torn to shreds.

Stormy weather, caused by the clashing of a cold front with warm Southern air, lashed other areas of the South with damaging winds, torrential rains and hail.

Four Killed In Homes

The worst of last night's tornadoes whirled their black funnels along a 150-mile strip through northeastern South Carolina and into eastern North Carolina.

Four members of two Negro farm families living across the road from each other died in their homes as a twister hit the High-South Farms section southeast of Roseboro, N.C.

A Raleigh, N.C., couple were killed when their car crashed head-on into a truck near Raeford, N.C., during the peak of a wind and rainstorm on the edge of the tornado area.

Hospital facilities in parts of the stricken area were flooded as injured were brought in by ambulances, private cars and trucks.

All available rescue facilities were mobilized in the Carolinas but injured from isolated areas struggled in hours after the twisters hit. Communication and power lines were torn down, trees uprooted and buildings demolished.

No immediate estimate of damage was available, but it obviously ran into the millions.

The first South Carolina community was hit shortly after 6 p.m., and the storm barreled North Carolina until after 9 p.m.

A tornado struck the Norfolk area about 5:20 p.m., ripping roofs from buildings and tearing down wires. Norfolk was partially without power for an hour.

The twisters banged into northern Mississippi before dawn yesterday and wrecked more than $100,000 worth of property before moving eastward into Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas.

More than 70 persons were injured at Falkville, Ala., and the storm also hit Hamilton, Winfield and Grayson, Ala. Five were hurt at Hamilton.

Crop Damage Heavy

A tornado cut a zig-zag path through a mountain farm area between Calhoun and Fairmont in northwest Georgia. Five were hurt and houses and textile buildings seriously damaged. Windstorms, rain and hail also lashed south Georgia, injuring at least two persons in Telfair County. Crop damage was feared heavy.

Pastor Critical Of Presley Fans For 'Adoration'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rock 'n' roll idol Elvis Presley has been likened to the golden calf.

The description was that of Rev. W. Carter Moberg, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church and an observer for the Police Department's juvenile aid bureau at Presley's engagement last Friday and Saturday at the Arena.

The clergyman described audiences at the shows as "screaming, falling to their knees as if in prayer, stretching rigidly and wriggling into a supreme effort of ecstasy."

Moberg, a committee member, told a reporter public hearings expected next month will show that "thousands of workmen" and the buyers of homes in two Long Island housing developments "all were gypped" by a sort of chain reaction in corruption.

Solon Says "Payoff" Probe Set

Mundt Claims N.Y. Union Heads Involved In Bribery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee dug deeper today into what Sen. Mundt (R-SD) called "crooked, under-the-table payoffs" to labor union officials and others in the New York City area.

Mundt, a committee member, told a reporter public hearings expected next month will show that "thousands of workmen" and the buyers of homes in two Long Island housing developments "all were gypped" by a sort of chain reaction in corruption.

Home Wrecked By Alabama Tornado

The home of Manuel Lawrence was one of those destroyed by a tornado which struck the Falkville, Ala., area late yesterday. Members of family and neighbors are shown as they sought to salvage possessions. At least 75 persons were injured in series of twisters. (AP Photofax)

Russell Raps Dulles' Plan On Aid Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said today he will oppose any part of the administration's new foreign aid program that might lead to "a perpetuity of spending abroad."

A number of other senators, including Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Copehatch (R-Ind.) applauded, however, a proposal to set up a fund to provide loans for economic development abroad and put all foreign aid on a long-range basis.

A major point in the new approach, as it was outlined by Secretary of State Dulles, is a lending program he said might reach as high as 750 million dollars annually in the years ahead.

Tied in with this is the recommendation that funds for economic assistance be separated from appropriations for military arms aid and defense support for countries with which the United States has military defense agreements.

The arms aid would be included in the appropriations bill for the Defense Department.

Fulbright told interviewers that authorization of these military aid and defense support funds should be placed under the jurisdiction of the Armed Services Committee.

He said his emphasis should be placed on loans for aiding underdeveloped countries to build roads, ports, irrigation, power and other projects that will enable them ultimately to become self-supporting.

Moslems Assail Sukarno Cabinet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno today swore in a hand-picked Cabinet he hopes will restore unity to divided Indonesia. The new government came under immediate fire from powerful Moslem elements.

The Cabinet, named after Indonesia's rebellious islands had been four weeks without a central government, is headed by pro-Socialist Prime Minister Raden Djundana.

The 22 ministers include four alleged pro-Communists.

Market Edges Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices pushed ahead slightly in moderate early trading today.

Dixie Tornado 'Flips' Truck

WALLACE, S. C. (AP) — Truck driver David A. Petty of Reidsville, N. C., was taking his tractor-trailer truck through here when a tornado hit yesterday.

He said the giant rig was lifted off the road, flipped over and set back on its wheels.

Officer Faces Sentence For Hitting 'Boot'

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — Lt. William D. Conroy pleaded guilty today to charges of hitting a young enlisted man, and placed his Marine Corps career in the hands of a seven-man general court-martial at this Marine recruit training base.

The court, before passing sentence, followed military procedure and permitted Lt. Conroy to offer testimony in possible mitigation of the offense.

This was the first blemish on Conroy's four-year service record. Maximum punishment for the offense is six months' confinement and dismissal from service.

This was another in a continuing series of maltreatment trials began after six men drowned a year ago last night on a disciplinary march into a tidal creek here.

Conroy is the first commissioned officer involved since the disastrous march into Ribon Creek last April 8.

'Stork Gamble' Seen Lost, X-Ray Shows One Baby

FREEPORT, N.Y. (AP) — An X-ray shows that a Long Island couple apparently has lost a $25,000 gamble with the stork and Lloyds of London.

Jean and David Blechman "bet" Lloyds $1,875 to $25,000 that they would have their third consecutive set of twins in June. But an X-ray indicated yesterday that the 29-year-old mother will give birth to a single child.

Blechman, 33, a pharmaceutical salesman, and friends and relatives raised the $1,875 for the multiple-birth insurance policy from Lloyds.

U. S. Attache Ousted From Red Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP) — Communist Hungary today accused Capt. Thomas R. Gleason, assistant U.S. military attache of Tulsa, Okla., of "open espionage" and gave him 48 hours to leave the country.

A spokesman for the U. S. legation said that the charges against Gleason do not constitute espionage under international custom and usage, and were "largely inaccurate."

Gleason, of Urbana, Ill., and Col. James C. Todd, U. S. military attache of Tulsa, Okla., were stopped on a Hungarian country road last Wednesday and questioned for more than five hours. They were accused of photographing a Russian-occupied barracks.

Gleason had no comment today, but previously both he and Todd denied they were taking pictures of the barracks.

N. Spencer Barnes, U.S. charge d'affaires in Budapest, was called to the Hungarian Foreign Ministry at noon and handed a note calling for Gleason to leave Hungary before noon Thursday.

The text of the note was not released but informed sources said it described Gleason as "persona non grata," the diplomatic term meaning no longer welcome.

Mother Killed By Her Own Car

WHEATON, Md. (AP) — A mother of two on a shopping trip for a birthday gift for her husband was run over and killed by her car as it coasted from its parking place last night.

As Mrs. Gloria Conner, 30, walked away from her car, it coasted backwards down a slight incline. Mrs. Conner opened the door on the driver's side in an apparent effort to apply the brakes but was knocked to the ground and run over.

Reich Favors Spain's Admission To NATO

BONN (AP) — The West German government announced today it favors the admission of Spain into the North Atlantic Alliance.

"Not only would such a move be of strategic importance," the announcement said, "but it would be an act of significance for the unity of Europe."

Sight-Giving 'Eye Windows' Can Be Kept For Two Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Sight-giving windows for human eyes can be dried and preserved for two years to help some blinded persons, medical researchers said today.

The windows or corneas donated by persons who just died are dehydrated in glycerine, then kept in vacuum-sealed tubes at room temperature.

Thin layers of these corneas have been grafted successfully into the eyes of persons whose own corneas were clouded or injured, said Dr. John Harry King Jr., Washington, D.C., a consulting ophthalmologist to the U. S. surgeon general.

UAW Head Keeps Grip At Sessions

Wins Approval On Most Proposals At National Conclave

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Walter P. Reuther appeared today to be in firm control of the United Auto Workers convention after winning overwhelming approval of everything he has proposed so far.

But the UAW president may encounter some opposition from a minority faction fighting his proposal to increase basic union dues of $2.50 to $3 a month.

The opposition developed last night at an anti-Reuther caucus led by Carl Stellato, president of the 44,000-member Ford Rouge plant local in the Detroit area.

Moves For Roll Call

A long-time critic of Reuther, Stellato urged his followers to maneuver for a roll call when the dues question comes up for a vote. But he said that would take 800 of the convention's 3,200 delegates and he wasn't overoptimistic about it.

Stellato said he opposed the dues increase "because none of it is going to the strike fund." He said the UAW's present 23-million-dollar strike fund should be increased to at least 100 millions.

Reuther had everything his own way yesterday.

An estimated 97 per cent of the delegates approved his plan, setting up a public review board to act as a watchdog on union ethical practices. The board, made up of seven prominent citizens outside the union, also will share the authority with the convention as the ultimate appeal body for grievances of union members.

The convention accepted almost unanimously the selections of the union's Executive Board. Named on the review board were Messrs. George Higgins, Washington, D.C.; Rabbi Morris Adler, Detroit; Methodist Bishop G. Bronkley Oxman, Washington; Dr. Clark Kerr of the University of California; Dr. Edwin Witte of the University of Wisconsin; and Circuit Judge Wade H. McCree, Detroit.

Reuther said President Eisenhower's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, turned down an invitation to serve on the board because "of the pressure of many other duties." Dr. Eisenhower is president of John Hopkins University.

The seventh member to complete the board will be chosen by the UAW Executive Board from a list to be submitted by the six already named.

Taxicab Driver Coaxed To Leave Perch On Bridge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man identified by police as Dentell R. Sager, taxi driver, teetered perilously in gale force winds for an hour last night atop the steelwork of a bridge across the Potomac River.

A patrolman finally talked him down at 12:45 a.m. with the offer of a cigarette.

The man, clad only in slacks and a T-shirt against the blustery, 40-degree weather, was taken to District General Hospital for mental observation.

Miss Willis Selected U. S. Envoy To Norway

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Miss Frances E. Willis, now ambassador to Switzerland, to be ambassador to Norway.

Miss Willis, a career diplomat and this country's only woman ambassador at present, would succeed L. Corrin Strong, who has resigned.

Sight-Giving 'Eye Windows' Can Be Kept For Two Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Sight-giving windows for human eyes can be dried and preserved for two years to help some blinded persons, medical researchers said today.

The windows or corneas donated by persons who just died are dehydrated in glycerine, then kept in vacuum-sealed tubes at room temperature.

Thin layers of these corneas have been grafted successfully into the eyes of persons whose own corneas were clouded or injured, said Dr. John Harry King Jr., Washington, D.C., a consulting ophthalmologist to the U. S. surgeon general.

This preservation method differs radically from usual eye banks, in which the whole eye is kept under refrigeration, and the cornea is removed to replace a blind person's own cornea. The whole eyes and corneas can be saved for only a short time, making it difficult to build up a supply to have on hand when needed.

King described the dry-preservation method in a report prepared for delivery to a sight-saving conference sponsored by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness and Pan-American Assn. of Ophthalmology.

U. S. Offers Disarming Plan At London Session

LONDON—Russia has promised to give close study to a new U. S. disarmament proposal. A two-step plan would ultimately freeze 25 per cent of the major powers' conventional arms in a common pool.

U. S. disarmament expert Harold Stassen broached the idea yesterday before the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee discussing plans for arms reductions. Russia, the United States, Britain, France and Canada are the members.

Informal sources said Stassen told the closed session that, as a first step, the five nations should place 10 per cent of their non-nuclear weapons, ships and other military equipment under international control. This would go into effect one year after an agreement was signed and ratified.

A reduction to agreed manpower levels would be taken at the same time. All five nations have agreed to cut the levels to 2½ million for Russia and the United States and 750,000 for Britain and France.

If this step were carried out satisfactorily, Stassen said, he would then recommend to the U. S. government that it agree to retire another 15 per cent of its conventional arms.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin termed Stassen's proposal "very important" and promised to give it careful study.

Western observers described the session — 56th since the subcommittee was formed in 1954 — as the "best so far." They stressed, however, that the talks were still at a highly theoretical stage.

Stegmaier Reported In Critical Condition

George I. Stegmaier, 302 Cumberland Street, for many years connected with the Peoples Bank before its merger with the Liberty Trust Company, is reported in critical condition at Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Stegmaier, who has also been a patient at Memorial Hospital, is expected to return home tomorrow.

Middle East Bloc Cool To Ike Doctrine

BAGHDAD, Iraq — Special U. S. envoy James P. Richards says he has not received "satisfactory" invitations to explain the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine to the governments of Egypt, Syria and Jordan. He indicated he would not visit those countries.

The President's emissary spoke to newsmen last night, on the eve of his departure for Saudi Arabia. Richards said he would go to any Middle East nation to explain the U. S. program for the area if he received a "proper invitation" from its government.

Both the Syrian and Jordanian regimes have already rejected the Eisenhower Doctrine. Although Egypt has taken no official stand, the government-controlled Cairo press has been highly critical of the anti-Communist doctrine.

Richards said he would go to Israel because her government "has a desire to discuss the Eisenhower Doctrine."

To date seven Middle East countries have endorsed the doctrine during Richards' visits and agreed to accept U. S. aid. They are Lebanon, Libya, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Iraq and Pakistan.

Soviet Nuclear Blast Reported

WASHINGTON — Both U. S. and British authorities have announced another nuclear explosion in the Soviet Union, the eighth in a series of tests which started last August.

The explosion, which took place last Saturday, was announced yesterday by the two Western powers.

The Russians have said the current tests are aimed at perfecting weapons suitable for arming different kinds of troop formations.

Wheeling Woman Injured In Crash

Mrs. Anna O. Haddock, 48 Wheeling, is reported in "good" condition today in Memorial Hospital where she was admitted yesterday afternoon following a one-car accident on West Virginia Route 28, two miles south of Fort Ashby.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Haddock sustained a fracture of her spine and lacerations of her chin.

Authorities said the woman was traveling south on Route 28 when she noticed her left front tire was going down. When she applied the brakes on the slippery road, wet from rain, the car skidded across the highway and hit an embankment on the left side of the road.

Trooper Charles Oliver of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police said no charges were preferred. About $300 damage was done to the auto.

Japanese See Reds Setting Off H-Bomb

TOKYO — A Japanese expert said today that the Soviet Union may have moved its nuclear testing ground farther west — or may be testing smaller weapons.

Shoji Ohta, chief of the Japanese meteorological agency's surface observation section, said records at three stations showed only "slight abnormal changes" in air pressure waves after the test explosions which the United States and Britain announced the Russians set off April 3 and 6.

Ohta contrasted these slight changes with marked rises in the pressure waves recorded after the big Soviet explosions last Aug. 30 and Nov. 17. He said the Japanese think those blasts were "thermonuclear" — from hydrogen bombs.

Tawes Enters

Time comes, I will be a candidate for governor of this State — and I will be a fighting candidate."

Earlier in his speech he had referred to his long career as comptroller — every year since 1939 — with the exception of part of the 1947-51 term, which was filled by the late James J. Lacy until his death in mid-term. Tawes was named to fill out that term. He was unopposed for election to three of his four-year terms.

Oppose D'Alessandro
Most of those at last night's dinner were either, like Tawes, members of the party's Eastern Shore wing or the forces which recently have opposed D'Alessandro's Baltimore City administration.

Heading the latter were adherents of the city's Fifth District faction headed by State Sen. Philip H. Goodman and Irvin Koveas, member of the liquor board, or the Third District group organized by Richard C. Coggins and Patrick O'Malley.

Both city groups and the Tawes backers from the Shore were lined up with Mahoney in his 1956 senatorial fight.

In his televised speech Tawes said he had "striven to keep aloof from all factional strife" and would "welcome and solicit the support of all Democrats in all parts of the State."

Survey Report Due
Declaring he expects to release "very soon" the results of a survey he conducted to find a solution to the party's factional problems, Tawes said:

"However, I can tell you tonight that even the smallest sampling of the survey makes one dominant fact stand out — Maryland Democrats are fed up with factionalism and lack of unity within the party."

Tawes became the second candidate to announce for the Democratic nomination.

H. C. Byrd, former University of Maryland president and an unsuccessful candidate in 1954, filed last week. He and Tawes both are from Crisfield and claim strong Eastern Shore backing. They are second cousins.

Tawes has said he had planned to seek the nomination in that year but stepped aside in favor of Byrd.

Steinway Succumbs

NEW YORK — Theodore Edwin Steinway, 73, chairman of the board of Steinway and Sons and grandson of the founder of the piano company, died yesterday at his home.

Two Men Die In Avalanche On Route 40

EMPIRE, Colo. — Deliberately started with cannon fire, a snowslide yesterday killed a cameraman filming the action and a highway worker warning motorists to stay away.

The photographer's helper, Roland Wyatt, 18, of Salt Lake City, was trapped in the fringe of the avalanche and clawed his way out from under two feet of snow.

John Hermann, 26, Salt Lake City movie cameraman, and Wayne S. Whitlock, 21, Empire, maintenance worker for the Colorado Highway Department, suffocated under tons of snow, rock and trees. Their bodies were later recovered.

The snowslide was set in motion on purpose as part of the Highway Department's avalanche control work along U. S. Highway 40 in the Blue Hill area of Berthoud Pass, about 48 miles west of Denver.

Whitlock, in a highway truck, was stationed on U. S. 40 to warn motorists.

Hermann, on assignment for a firm that supplies film to Walt Disney Productions, and Wyatt were also on the highway with their cameras set to record the avalanche.

Ted Bakken, 28, was in charge of the Highway Department team that fired three rounds from a 75mm. howitzer into the snowmass.

"The avalanche was about three minutes gathering speed," Bakken said. "I just can't understand why, when they saw its size, they didn't get to safety."

Bakken said, "Snow was flying everywhere . . . After today I'm going to quit this job."

The avalanche snapped pine trees like matches as it hurtled down the mountainside, flowed over a 100-foot-deep gulch and shot up the opposite slope, burying the highway under 20 feet of snow, trees, rock and dirt. The slide was 1,500 feet wide.

Man Indicted On Manslaughter

Clarence Junior Northcraft, 29, of 49 Humbird Street, has been indicted on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle. He was released on $1,000 bond pending trial April 15.

A Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman, Northcraft was charged in the death of Mrs. Matilda Agnes Blaine, 73, of 417 Springdale Street. She was struck by Northcraft's car along Virginia Avenue near Fifth Street about 8:25 p. m. March 22, and was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital.

Two other indictments docketed yesterday concern the paternity of children born out of wedlock. Three criminal informations filed by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher listed similar charges.

Nine indictments were returned by the grand jury last week but only five of them are on the open docket.

37 Persons Enroll In Lifesaving Course At Central YMCA

The junior and senior lifesaving course sponsored jointly by the Allegheny County Chapter of the American Red Cross and Central YMCA has signed up 37 persons, according to James H. Fortner, physical education director at the "Y."

The required 16-hour course will begin this evening at the YMCA and will continue tomorrow and Thursday starting at 7 p. m. The course will be conducted next week with classes scheduled Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 16, 17 and 18.

The course will be under the leadership of Bruce May, a student at Frostburg State Teachers College and former head lifeguard at Shawnee Park, Pa. Mr. May will be assisted by Sue Silcox of Cumberland, also a certified Red Cross safety instructor, and members of the YMCA aquatic staff, John Morris and Charles "Joe" Smith.

Mr. Fortner stated classes each night will be conducted from 7 until 10 or 10:30 p. m. for the required 16 hours of practical work necessary for a Red Cross senior lifesaving certificate. All new cases written examination also must be passed to obtain the certificate. Instruction will include artificial respiration, escapes, carries, swimming skills, and basic rules for water safety.

In a city of 25,000 population, 110 persons will be under treatment for cancer this year, 66 of them new cases.

City Challenge

IN CHICAGO, buildings and whole blocks are going down as part of a housing redevelopment plan. This is happening on the South side in and near the University of Chicago district, and represents an effort on the part of Chicagoans to meet their local problems. It is also interesting to others, because Chicago, the metropolis of mid-America, is a laboratory of problems—sociological, economic, technical and psychological.

IT HAS RECEIVED much publicity as a rough, tough town. This goes back to the 1920s, when Al Capone and his mob were in their heyday. It is a rough, tough city. But more than this, Chicago is one of the active sociological laboratories of America. If more can be learned about the patterns of Chicago's change and growth, we can gain clues and insights which might aid us in achieving a fuller understanding of a phenomenon which now is challenging the nation—the phenomenon of the big, the sprawling, the growing city.

IN DEALING WITH the many problems of the big city, problems which multiply by the day, one conclusion is obvious. A developing civic leadership, which includes all major parties and social, political and economic groups is a prerequisite for handling our urban problems. After years of apathy, the signs of a resurgent civic leadership are now apparent in Chicago. That will have to happen in all our great cities if they are to survive and not stagnate.

Risk Not Warranted

AS HE MOVES ABOUT the countryside in his official car, a president of the United States can become preoccupied and not realize how fast he may be traveling. We must assume something like that happened to Mr. Eisenhower when his Secret Service driver recently violated the speed laws in taking the President to his Gettysburg farm. But while it is doubtful he deliberately sought to break the law, there can be no excuse for carelessness in a matter so vital. The President's own traffic safety committee said a while back that the "responsibility for behaving sensibly in traffic is shared by all of us." His stature at the head of the safety movement is visibly weakened if he does not practice what he preaches. Actually, altogether too many public officials and campaigning politicians indulge in high-speed travel on the open road—without police escort. Seventy and 80-mile-an-hour speeds are common in election years. Children, ordinary motorists and others most of the time can't tell an official car from any other. They are entitled to the full protection of all traffic laws. They should not be asked to be on guard against public figures who may come burning past at seventy. It was good to hear that the President has ordered the Secret Service driver never to exceed the speed limit in the future. He and all others in government and politics have an obvious duty to set a good example if we are to solve our traffic problem.

Men From Maine

WAS WILLIAM F. FRYE of Maine one of the five most noted senators in our history? Sen. Frederick G. Payne of Maine evidently thinks so. For he has asked that Frye's portrait be placed in the Senate reception room, along with four other notables of the past to be chosen by a Senate committee. Frye has one special claim to distinction, that he served as president pro tempore of the Senate for a longer period than any other man, his service covering from 1896 to his death in 1911. He had also the influence that a man of ability acquires by assiduous attention to his work over a long period of years. And yet, if Payne wanted to honor a Maine senator, he might better have chosen Frye's colleague, Eugene Hale. His service, like Frye's, began in 1881 and ended in 1911. Hale was for the last 15 years of his life one of the two or three, headed by Sen. Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, who ruled the Senate, and to whom even as forceful a president as Theodore Roosevelt had to cater.

THIS IS THE time of the year when, if some seagull tells you to "go fly a kite," you wish you could.

Gypsy Rose Lee Unveils Herself Again

NEW YORK—Gypsy Rose Lee, a lady who has never believed in concealing the facts, is coming out with an autobiography next month. In these days of sordid self-exposures there are a couple of facets of it that worry her.

"I'm not, nor have I ever been, an alcoholic," she says, swinging at a wholesome off-white cup of coffee. "I haven't been a dope addict, either. I haven't been anything—except an entertainer. And who could not, at one time or other, say that?"

MISS LEE was sprawled, in a paint-spattered skirt and utter exhaustion, across a velvet chair on the fourth floor of her 26-room town house.

"I read to myself where Diana Barrymore has sold her book to magazines and the movies for vast sums," she flung her shapely arms wide. "On the strength of that, I just plunged in and paid $349 for a set of shutters, but what else?"

"Now I think of it, you can sell a sad story, but my life—it's a comedy."

To most women, a life in which one started to work at age four and never quit would be less than funny. Three unsuccessful marriages might also leave most females unlaughing. But Gypsy's temperament evidently is as remarkable as her figure, which appears to be still in rare form even under spring housecleaning duets.

She's loquacious, forthright and blunt on any subject.

QUESTION—Are you ever embarrassed, now that you're a recognized author, that you are mainly known as a strip-teaser?

ANSWER—"Oh, no. This would be a great time for me to start being embarrassed, after I've capitalized on it so long. 'Course I entered it unintentionally. Mother booked me into a theatre and we didn't realize it was a burlesque house."

Q—Were you embarrassed back then?

A—"No, in the '30s when I went into the Ziegfeld Follies, the first four or five rows were always very chic, social people, and I couldn't see beyond that. Thank the Lord for spotlights."

Q—Do you think you'll be married again?

A—"I don't really think so. If I could truthfully say my husbands were all stinkers, it would be okay. But they were all very nice men, and I must assume it's been my fault. I was always too independent; that's what you get when you start working as a baby."

"With one husband I was living in the country. One day when he was away a wind came up and the shingles came off the barn. I went upon a ladder, looked the situation over, and ordered new ones. When they came, he was furious. A man doesn't want that kind of efficiency, and that's the story of my life. . . . I am used to buying my own shingles."

"ANOTHER thing. Every once in awhile I take a look at my finances and say 'Oh, oh, I better go to work.' Then I'm off for six months entertaining. Men don't like that either."

Q—Did you write your autobiography after a look at the finances?

A—"No, my earning power is up, made more money last year than the year before, and anytime I want to work I seem to get bookings. I just like to write."

Asked the chief headache involved in writing an autobiography, Gypsy replied without hesitation: "Exposing yourself. In show business and autobiographical writing, it's all the same. You're setting yourself up as a clay pigeon. You've got to keep your ego up, and that's not easy for me. I appreciate the sacred word—but not my own."

Diplomat Is Waiter At His Own Parties

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Pakistan Ambassador Mohammed Ali is one of the most successful hosts in town because he takes a personal interest in seeing that each guest has a good time and gets enough to eat.

Other evening at his crowded, lavish Pakistan Independence Day reception he was working as hard as a headwaiter who expects a $20 tip.

He raced to the kitchen to get more fresh strawberries for a guest who had missed them in the dessert line.

He paused to hold a woman's purse while she cut a huge hunk of wonderful chicken that had been cooked in a special garlic sauce.

He braved the mobs at the bars innumerable times to get champagne refills for elderly guests. And he had a special word of greeting for each person.

At too many big receptions you're lucky to get a grunt from the host in the receiving line. At this late Ambassador Ali will end up forcing the other hosts to start enjoying their own parties.

AN ACT OF Congress finally disarmed the sure-shootin' Wyatt Earp. An act of a congressional cop, that is.

Hugh O'Brian, television's Wyatt Earp, recently visited the Capitol in full western regalia which included two prop shootin' irons.

"Park those cannons right here, podner," the cop ordered

O'Brian, with a grin. "You're the law, podner," O'Brian replied and passed over the play guns.

THE PRESIDENT recently attended a late-afternoon gathering which included a small group of high-ranking officers. He was chatting with two of the generals when he noticed the rest of the crowd seemed to be uneasy.

They were all staring at him, too.

"What's the matter," Ike asked one of the generals. "Is there something wrong with my tie to cause everybody to stare?"

"To be perfectly frank," the general replied, "the order is out that nobody can have a drink unless you ask for one."

Ike laughed. "In that case I'll just hold one," he said.

At that, waiters rushed in with refreshments for the thirsty but relieved crowd.

NILS LENNARTSON, special assistant to Treasury Secretary George Humphrey, taking a tip from his boss, decided he would cut the budget in his own office by canceling the special Dow-Jones financial news wire.

The cost was $1,620 per year and he decided that the department could wait until the next day to get the same news in the newspaper.

When word of the cancellation got to Dow-Jones in New York, a representative came screaming down to protest. But Nils was ready for him.

"Don't blame me," Nils said to the D-J man, "I really got the idea from you people."

He shoved at the man a half-dozen editorials from the Wall Street Journal—the same outfit which runs the Dow-Jones wire—which demanded greater government economy.

The D-J man returned quietly to New York.

OTHER Saturday night Vice President Nixon showed up at two parties to the surprise of the guests who had been hearing on the radio all day that he was in Walter Reed Army Hospital being treated for flu.

He looked as if he should have been in a hospital bed, too, but both affairs were important, official functions. His own explanation:

"I ducked out of the back door of Walter Reed when the nurse wasn't looking."

He only laughed when asked to confirm or deny the following story making the rounds about his recent trip to Africa:

Seems the V. P. rushed up to a gentleman at one airport whom he assumed was some official on hand to greet him. Nixon put his hand on the man's shoulder into a five-minute explanation about America's fight against communism.

The man listened patiently until the V. P. finished, then said, "I don't know nothing about this communism business, boss. I'm just here to fix the soft-drink machine."

A FAITHFUL listener to the Voice of America in India may force the Voice to raise its estimate of the size of that audience.

A fan there just requested the full schedule of all programs. The letter was signed by the head of the household with a listing of the names of his 4 wives, 32 children and 2 servants.

With 39 listeners to one set, the Voice's audience count in India may be some 35 million short.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—There is a new movie out called "The True Story of Jesse James," and undoubtedly there are 9 or 98 other "true versions" around, but not one is worth a torn nickel if it does not contain the moment in which the citizens of a certain, admitted and, by me, venerated Minnesota town shattered the rags and remnants of Jesse's gang.

And if the doctor's daughter in that town, an attractive young lady employed at General Mills, doesn't know that heroic story she ought to look it up. The place is Mankato.

YEARS MUST build a sort of mental barrier. Thinking back across 33 years of New York life, you suddenly realize that there is so much in it you never have got around to doing or seeing. You have watched perhaps 100 banana boats being unloaded, but not once have you seen a stalk of bananas with a tarantula or snake inside.

Dock workers will tell you that every so often a stalk comes along bearing one of these creatures. And the unloader is bitten—fatally in the case of the snake, uncomfortably in the case of the tarantula.

YOU KNOW perhaps 603 advertising men, yet in spite of all the bitter novels and wry short stories about their kind, you do not know one who ever has taken a tranquilizing pill, a sleeping pill or a wake-up pill. Aspirin, of course, but none of the others. Nor have you ever known one who policed his way to the top. Maybe you know the wrong kind of advertising men.

There are three deadly jobs in New York: in advertising, movies and architecture. Men working in them will tell you that you never know when you will be fired, that inner politics are violent and that advancement has little to do with ability. Not quite true, but a little.

YOU ALSO, in all these years, have never met an insulting bus driver, although half of New York will testify that all bus drivers are mean-tempered, touchy, insolent and careless.

New Yorkers cheer when a bus driver gets in trouble and has his picture in the newspapers, but the facts in your own experience are quite the opposite. They have all been courteous, helpful and patient.

You cannot say the same for taxi drivers. They run in categories: They either deny everything, are surly, quaint, merry or morose.

I have never met a taxi driver who admitted that anything was really good or one who didn't tend to take the opposite point of view from anything you might have said. They mainly belong to the "Now, it ain't that way at all" school of public relations.

And, if given a choice, you decide that you will endure three surly ones instead of one self-consciously, deliberately quaint one.

THE MOST formidable looking and least terrifying men in New York are stage doormen. Nine out of ten look suspicious, doubtful, firm and querulous. But nine out of ten turn out to be pleasant, charming, informed and friendly men.

The only tough one I ever met was not in New York at all, but in San Francisco. He opened the conversation with "All right, bub, what's on your mind and say it fast." You gave the only answer you could think of quickly. Trying to look as much like Bogart as possible, you snarled: "Out of the way, bum. I'm with the Purple mob in Detroit."

Thereafter, he not only was overly pleasant, but held the stage door open for you to come in and out, brought your bride 'hot coffee and toast when she hadn't even asked for it and otherwise went out of his way to make life easy and pleasant.

You never did tell him that you didn't even know any of the Purple mob, except from what you read in newspapers.

A MILLION cars, all looking more or less alike, wheel owners' appetites for individualization. But the only really individual car you have seen is an American station wagon with Mexico City license plates, observed in Times Square the other day.

The entire buid had brass creatures bolted onto it: bees, flies, lizards, snakes and birds. Each about an inch high and three to four inches long. And on the tailgate was a foot-high brass eagle, the Mexican motif kind with a snake in its bill.

There's Life In Caucus Room

WASHINGTON—Squirring there on a folding chair such as ladies use at bridge parties and with the TV lights shining into my eyes, I got to thinking that I've spent a substantial part of my adult life in the Senate caucus room.

This has been uncomfortable, but also educational. And sometimes dangerous. The vast, two-story chamber with its dozen gray marble columns, its four mighty chandeliers, its red carpet and its cops holding back the mobs, has become home to me.

MY FIRST experience in this mighty room was more than 20 years ago, when the Senators were investigating banking practices. I was helping Lyle C. Wilson of the United Press cover the proceedings and he happened to be downstairs dictating a story when a lady midget walked in and took a seat on J. P. Morgan's lap.

This struck me as slightly funny and I made only the barest mention of it in my part of the running story. I soon learned the hard way that the midget was far more important at the moment than banking reforms. Odd thing is that everybody remembers the small lady on Morgan's knee; hardly anybody can recall what he'd been talking about.

CAME SOON thereafter a session concerning Iron Pans Hugh Johnson of the Blue Eagle, a mythical bird—and this is hard to believe today—trying to keep prices from going down. Some manufacturer trying to get a jump on his competitors had just reduced, illegally, the price of ladies' elastic underwear. The late General Iron Pans looked a little odd lingering one of the samples.

Then there was the hearing involving the easter from the world's greatest deliberate body of Senator Theodore Bilbo. The argument became heated when somebody mentioned an alleged love nest on an island and the pro- and anti-Bilbos broke out in a dozen fist-fights. The cops rushed in, somebody stepped on a Senatorial cuspidor of finest porcelain and I was wounded slightly by a flying shard.

WELL, DO I remember the inquiry of Senator Homer Ferguson, now a Federal judge, into thievery in the sales of government property. One witness, still quaking, was a junkman who'd tossed a box of beat-up Federal records into a bonfire. The records turned out to be cartridge shells; he barely escaped with his life.

This same Senator Ferguson a few weeks later was inquiring into atrocities in German prison camps. A small attorney with a Germanic accent reached into his briefcase and hauled out an object he identified as a shrunken human head. So startled was the Senator that he blurted: "You know him?"

IN THE CAUCUS room Howard Hughes, the airplane and movie maker, talked back to the Senators and made 'em like it. There I watched the suffering of General Benny Meyers, who used the Army's funds for his own personal use.

And there for weeks on end I observed during the Army-McCarthy hearings a handsome young man named G. David Schine become the best-known buck private in the U. S. Army.

In this same room came the evidence about the free freezer boxes to bigwigs and the tale of the royal pastel mink given to a White House secretary during Harry Truman's regime.

LACK OF SPACE forces me to skip dozens of sessions as interesting, but I must include a touch of recent history. The inquiry into Dave Beck's Teamsters Union brought for the first time into the caucus room two old-time madams, a lady bartender, a confessed burglar, and a gambler who once did a term in jail for carrying a package of heroin.

Life, I mean to say, seldom has been dull in the caucus room. Most of the time I haven't even noticed how hard were the chairs.

Prevention

MANY PEOPLE, when considering juvenile delinquency, think in terms of one cause or emphasis. Poverty, or a bad home, or some other factor is singled out as the cause and, more important, the source of blame. Frequently, it seems more important to blame than to understand. Thus, it is often said that "the parents are to blame."

However, we do not really begin to think fully until we shed ourselves of the need to blame someone, to excuse, to use our minds as instruments of rationalization. In approaching the grave problems of juvenile delinquency, we should recognize that these occur in the framework of society. The causes are social, economic, personal and psychological.

We are dealing with a condition of youth in a changing and dangerous period. In order to lessen the incidence of delinquency we must mobilize social resources and energies.

If we do not, and if juvenile delinquency continues to increase, then we can even be nurturing the barbarians within our own gates who will tear down much of what we—and our forebears—have created.

This is a problem which does not call for anger. At the same time, sentimentality in approaching it is as dangerous as anger. It cannot be left alone to the law. An all-sided approach is required.

One of the big tasks facing us is to concern ourselves with the boys and girls of five, six, seven. In other words, as we try to meet the problem, we should give much thought and effort to preventive measures.

If many boys and girls of five to seven can now be set on a road of constructive living, we will have less delinquency in ten years. We have here a long-term problem, one of the major ones facing us in a changing society.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—The two Senators and seven Representatives from the State of Washington can hardly take a full stride in any given direction these days without being halted by someone who says: "Dave Beck and the Teamsters Union have been a big political force in your state. How is this Beck business going to affect your political fortunes?"

The questioners put their queries eagerly, expecting that the answers will at least be interesting. They depart from the imprudent quiz sessions feeling oddly cheated.

The unsettling truth is that all the members of Washington's congressional delegation, Republicans as well as Democrats, act as if the name of Dave Beck had been only vaguely familiar to them until Senator McClellan's select committee brought it to general notice.

WASHINGTON has a rather remarkable congressional setup. It is regarded as a Democratic state. Both its Senators are Democrats, and its only Congressman-at-large, elected by the whole state, is a Democrat. But the other six Congressmen, elected from individual districts, are all Republicans.

All nine give the maddeningly negative reply: "I don't see how the Beck thing can hurt me." They all sound as if they were playing the same record.

You might expect this from the three Democrats because they have had the support of Organized Labor. One GOP member, Thomas M. Pelley, who represents the City of Seattle, has had some labor money. But the other five Republicans, Jack Westland, Russell V. Mack, Hal Holmes, Will Moran, and Thor C. Tollefson, have never had any union funds, and therefore no perceivable reason for being so vague and negative.

THERE IS, of course, no reason for the state's Senior Senator, Warren G. Magnuson, to be politically concerned about Beck, or much else, because he is just in for another six years. But the Junior Senator, Henry M. Jackson, comes up next year. However, even the most Republican of the six Republicans agree that nothing as yet in the cards can heat the fence-mending, publicly-winning "Scoop" Jackson for reelection.

Rep. Tollefson offered this explanation for the seeming unfamiliarity of himself and colleagues with the political potentialities of Beck:

"Years ago it came to be considered a handicap to a candidate in our state to have it known that Beck was for him. Consequently, any man receiving help from Teamsters' boss was disposed to keep quiet about it. I have little doubt that Beck has been politically active, but his beneficiaries haven't been publicizing it."

Added Tollefson: "Even if our opponent in an election is getting money from a source like Beck, we don't get the proof in time to do us any good. A candidate doesn't have to file his campaign contributions until 30 days after the election."

REP. WESTLAND, who used to be national amateur golf champion and learned outspoken language on the links, was unaccountably cozy. He said:

"I don't see how this Beck thing can hurt me. I think it may even help me when I run again next year."

"But, look here!" I persisted. "Haven't you felt any opposition from a man like Beck, who has his organization headquarters in your state?"

Rep. Westland gave me the open look he gives like on the tenth tee at Burning Tree when the President inquires his golf score.

"No," he declared, "I have never

Maundy Thursday Rites Scheduled

The traditional mystic banquet and extinguishing of the lights will be observed Maundy Thursday, April 18, at 6:30 p. m. by the Cumberland Chapter of Knights of the Rose Croix at the Ghan Shrine Country Club.

An address will be given by Glenn L. Archer, executive director of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State. A native of Kansas, he was educated in schools of his home state, as well as Colorado, Illinois and Iowa. He earned the LL.B. degree from Washburn Municipal University of Topeka, Kan. and did extensive graduate work in law at Northwestern University.

Archer is a man of several careers including business, law, religion, education and politics.

Following the annual dinner, Robert E. Stallings will be toastmaster. Invocation will be given by Dr. Albert C. Cook. After the Rose Croix at the Ghan Shrine Country Club.

"To Our Country," Julius E. Schindler; "To the President," Arthur B. Gibson; "To the Supreme Council," Thomas E. Gibson; "To the Sovereign Grand Commander," J. Russell Cook; "To the Sovereign Grand Inspector of Maryland," A. Wayne Reed; "To the Masters of Maryland," J. Stanley Hunter; "To the Scottish Rite Bodies of Cumberland," Harold C. ## City Airport Listed In Express Program

There would be 29 airports in Maryland by 1965 if a Department of Commerce recommendation is followed, according to U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

Intercontinental express service airports would be at Baltimore, Cumberland, Easton, Hagerstown and Salisbury.

There would be secondary, feeder and trunk ports at 22 other locations including Brunswick, Frederick and Oakland.

New airports or installations would be built at Aberdeen-Havre De Grace, Annapolis, Beltsville, Brunswick, Cambridge, College Park, Ellicott City, Oakland Ocean City, Rockville and Towson.

New Contract Ratified By Iron Workers Union Here

Local 558, Iron Workers Union, has ratified a new contract providing substantial wage increases, according to George J. Clark, union business agent.

The one-year agreement, to be effective on all work, May 1, was unanimously adopted by the membership of the union Saturday, he said.

Under the pact, members of the local will get $2 a day travel pay from the Allegany County line up to 10 miles and $2.50 daily for over 10 miles past the county line.

A clause is also included giving the union the right to reopen negotiations within 48 hours if the cost of living increases three per cent between May 1 and January 1.

Safety provisions were also included, making all stewards safety men and providing that a joint union-company safety meeting to be held each month.

The 1956 contract provided wages of $2.87½ an hour for rodmen and $3.15 for all other classifications.

Clark said the agreement is the result of negotiations which began about 18 months ago. The union committee included Leland C. Malone, president; Virgil K. Dyer, sergeant-at-arms, and Mr. Clark.

The union has about 200 members, augmented at present by about three dozen iron workers from other locals. The pact has been signed by the Hazelwood, Vandegriff and George construction companies here and Standard Steel Services, Inc., Johnstown, which is engaged in work in this area.

EASY REDUCING

All-in-One Plan now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

Do you like sweets, candy, cake, butter, gravy potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but now, right now, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier, you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why...

Consider this: A well known scientist selected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL the recognized proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories yet expands when it absorbs water thereby helping give the feeling of a full, contented stomach. In fact these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-calorie filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

But goes fast! You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no aching dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

We readily find ALL-IN-ONE CAPSULES in every good drug store.

Judge Rules Husband May Recover Expenses

The husband of a woman who sought unsuccessfully to recover for personal injuries and for hospital and medical expenses is not prevented from seeking to recover the medical expenses in connection with his wife's injuries.

Associate Judge Morgan C.

Harris submitted an opinion to that effect yesterday in Circuit Court.

Mrs. Cora Lepley, 355 Bedford Street, was injured April 16, 1954, when she was struck by an automobile driven by James H. Barrett of 299 East Main Street, Newark, Ohio, while walking across U. S. Route 220 in front of the Celanese plant.

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury last July 26 returned a verdict for the defendant in this case. Judge Harris signed the judgment affirming the verdict last September 18.

W. Earle Cobey, this city, and Gilbert Prendergast, Baltimore, the defense attorneys, had filed a pleading that the husband, Dorsey D. Lepley, is estopped from pursuing his claim because of the prior verdict in the wife's case.

"The overwhelming weight of authority holds that a judgment against the wife is not res judicata as to the liability in general of the defendant for losses sustained by the husband, and it naturally follows that the husband is not estopped from pursuing his claim," Judge Harris wrote.

Filed with the brief opinion was an order that the plaintiff's demurrer to the pleas of the defendant be sustained. Harold E. Naughton is Mr. Lepley's attorney.

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Two civilians were killed yesterday when a speeding troop train struck their army pickup truck at a Pennsylvania Railroad crossing near here.

The engineer of the 17-car train, G. J. Kimmick of Camp Hill, near Harrisburg, told railroad inspectors he came upon the vehicle at 75 miles an hour and saw it too late to stop.

The victims were identified as Donald A. Molitor, 35, of Alexandria, Va., and Emory G. Edwards, 20, of Clarksburg, Md. Molitor died at the scene. Edwards, believed to be the driver, died in Lancaster Hospital.

An Army official at Washington, Lancaster, said they were field surveyors for the Army Corps of Engineers at child. Edwards was not married. Isodas and hot pastrami on rye.

The appointment of James L. English as business manager of the West Virginia Medium Security Prison at Huttonville was announced by Theodore T. Dorman, president of the State Board of Control. He will succeed H. B. Walsh of Parkersburg.

English, a native of Randolph County, is presently employed in Elkins. A resident of Parsons for the past 25 years, he was associated with the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company for 18 years, serving as store manager and supervisor. He was engaged in the operation of his own grocery store here for ten years and for the past year has been employed in the office of the Sam G. Polino Company of Elkins.

English is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. English of Mill Creek. In 1930 he married the former Sally Hamilton, daughter of Mrs. Bernice Hamilton of Elkhart.

Rotary Club Project Set

FROSTBURG — Walter Kline, president of the Frostburg Rotary Club, announced at the weekly dinner meeting last night that the board of directors voted to assume sponsorship of Josef Marton, a Hungarian refugee, his wife and two-year-old son who arrived in this country in January and were located since that time on a farm in Garrett County.

Peter Lukas, Harold Dudley, Stanley Jacobson and Charles Hill were named to complete arrangements for this project, and have found him employment at Fair's Atlantic Service Station here. A furnished apartment has also been secured for Marton and his family until more suitable arrangements can be made.

Marton cannot speak English and has depended almost entirely on Lukas as his interpreter. He answered a number of questions regarding his experiences in Hungary during the recent uprisings against the Russians.

Max Bastian, Joseph Downey and Miles Thompson Jr. of the Cumberland Club and Dr. Ernest E. Church of the Keyser club were visitors at the meeting. Lukas was in charge of the program at the meeting.

Firearm Mark Anniversary

Rodney Baker Nominated For Mayor Of Piedmont

PIEDMONT — Rodney Baker, who is completing his first two-year term as mayor of Piedmont, last night was nominated without opposition for the office in a primary election held in the community.

Despite the inclement weather, some 76 eligible voters of the community cast ballots. Two years ago 45 residents voted in the primary.

James Bisset and Joseph Maybury, incumbent councilmen, each received 60 votes. Elmer J. Shaver, who is manager of the Piedmont Exchange of the Chicago, Peake and Polomac Telephone Company and a newcomer to politics, received 58 votes.

Sebastian "Gus" Barbarito received 19 votes while Fred H. Kamp, another newcomer, received a total of 12 votes. A courtesy vote was cast for Garland Cheshire, a holdover. The other holdover is Kingsley Skidmore.

The general election will be held Monday, May 13. Other candidates may file for office by presenting a petition with 25 names of eligible voters by May 3, 10 days prior to the election.

Last night's meeting was opened by Mayor Baker with Harold Fredlock, former mayor, acting as chairman. He named Ormond Ledlow, city clerk, as secretary. William Thompson and Eugene Paxton were clerks.

Yesterday's primary was considered the best turnout in recent years. There are about 1,350 eligible voters in Piedmont.

Services Slated At St. Michael's

W. Va. Trout Season Will Open April 27

ROMNEY — The West Virginia trout season opens at sunrise April 27 and closes at midnight, October 10. During that time, anglers may take rainbow, brown, brook and kokanee trout with no minimum length being set.

The creel limit is set at eight per day and 60 per person. The daily limit for trout impoundments is five per day.

The state fishing shifts into high gear June 8 with bass season opening that day and running until March 9, 1958. Bass creel limits are eight a day and 60 for the season. There is no length limit.

Game and rough fish of other species are open all year and no creel or length limits are set. Frog season also opens June 8 and runs until June 22. Ten frogs a day and 50 for the season are the limits.

Inspection Set
Norris R. Caryl of the Potomac Valley Soil Conservation Service states that the sponsors and endorers of the Warm Springs watershed flood prevention project will make their semi-annual inspection of the completed regrading dams tomorrow.

They will check dams on the Robert Corbin property, known as "Site Number 5" and on the Irving Stewart property or "Site Number 3."

Cheeks will be made for bare areas on the dam or spillway, and debris or trash in the spillway or inlet. Inspectors will look for needed repairs to fences, rip-rap, channel outlet and the inside of the conduit.

Report Given
The March activities report of the Romney detachment of West Virginia State Police reveals a low accident total on Hampshire County highways for the month with nine being investigated.

One was a fatal accident, three personal injury mishaps and the five property damage only accidents.

Five criminal investigation reports were made, 28 motor vehicle investigation reports, 19 warning tickets issued and one revocation order served. Stolen property recovered was valued at $27.

Arrests fell into seven felonies, 32 road law violations and 11 other misdemeanors. Man hours spent show 46 in giving operators license examinations, 124 office, 418 road patrol, 120 in investigations, 13 weight law enforcement, 14 school bus inspection, 46 in court, 10 in escorts and 148 in motor vehicle inspections.

There are about 130 Class I railroads in the United States.

Class Will Meet
ELLERSLIE — The Light Bearers Sunday School Class of Ellerslie Methodist Church will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the church hall. Each member is to bring a package of needles, an old necktie and a box of cake mix to be sent overseas for foreign missions.

Film Will Be Shown At Eckhart Church
ECKHART — The film entitled "Martyred Men" will be shown tomorrow in Eckhart Baptist Church at 8:45 p. m. "Martyred Men," a sound motion picture showing official color photographs taken of the pagan Aca Indians, is essentially a filmed report. It does include official color photographs of the five missionaries who were slain in the Aca jungles of Ecuador in January of 1956, and of the Aca Indians who met them at the Curaray beach. This service is being sponsored by the Young People's Training Union of the church.

Bus Terminal Site Delayed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Board of Public Works has postponed action on the proposed Annapolis bus terminal site.

Despite an impassioned plea by Mayor Arthur G. Ellington of Annapolis for "prompt consideration" of any means to secure the "desperately needed" terminal, the problem was turned over to James J. O'Donnell, director of the improvements department.

While the board requested further study on the matter, it also extended the right of the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad Co. to temporarily retain its old Belden Street bus terminal.

Members of the board voiced disapproval of the low rental suggested for the new site.

Wall Street Hears

NEW YORK — (INS. — Wall Street Hears:)

Union Carbide first quarter sales were up about 9 per cent from the 1956 period, but earnings were off a bit to $1.20 from $1.24. Softness in ferro alloy sales, a lower price on vinyl plastics and a strike at the Linde Division were factors in the lower earnings.

International Telephone & Telegraph receiving favorable attention in current market letters because of its earnings uptrend, strong backlog, and aggressive management.

International Harvester, which now has about 13 per cent of the nation's motor truck business, says it is going out for a bigger share.

Rexal Drug net for 1957 is projected at $1.50, which would compare with $1.35 last year, $1.19 in 1955 and 93 cents in 1954. Market comment—Walter Maynard of Shearson, Maninell & Co.

"It is evident that in certain areas investors have now come to accept with equanimity the prospect that industrial activity may decline. . . . This evidence of willingness on the part of investors to ignore near term adversity probably means that careful purchases of institutional type stocks during periods of weakness will work out well."

Cumberland Playhouse Plan Proposed

A plan for a Cumberland Playhouse or community theatre presented the Mayor and Council yesterday will be studied by the recreation director and the City Recreation Board.

The proposal, by Jon Michael Dellart, 430 North Mechanic Street, called for a theatre group to present five plays this summer at the Liberty Theatre with the cooperation of the Cumberland Recreation Department.

The proposed schedule includes "The Skin of Our Teeth," July 4; "Blithe Spirit," July 25; "Death of a Salesman," August 8; "The Importance of Being Earnest," August 22 and "Green Pastures," September 22.

The Cumberland Playhouse, he said, would be decorated with paintings by various artists of the area and the apron of the present stage extended four feet to provide space for productions.

When not in use as a theatre, he proposed the playhouse be used for fashion shows and luncheons for members of the Cumberland Playhouse.

Backer would be the Recreation Department and Dellart would be the producer.

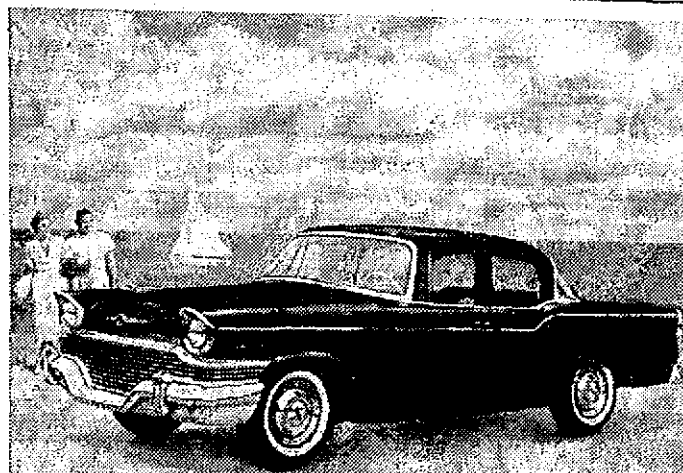

The tentative financial plan calls for an initial budget of $300, divided equally for the opening of the theatre and the first production.

The playhouse would have a permanent staff of the producer and a technician.

Actors for the productions would be members of the city.

Man Killed, State Official Injured In 3-Car Mishap

EASTON, Md. (AP)—State Commissioner of Personnel Russell S. Davis was slightly injured yesterday in a three-car collision on U. S. 50 which killed a soldier.

Victim of the mishap in neighboring Queen Annes County was Army Specialist Third Class Carroll Lee Simmons, 19, of Royal Oak, Talbot County, stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va.

State Trooper J. W. Eckstrom said Davis was treated at a hospital here and released. He suffered only cuts and bruises of the forehead, chest and left leg.

Davis, 62-year-old Cambridge resident, is head of the State Merit System and an ex-officio member of the Employees Retirement System.

The accident happened on the rain-drenched highway about 12 miles north of here and two miles west of Wye Mills. Trooper Eckstrom said the soldier's car apparently went out of control when heading west and crossed the center strip into the eastbound lane, hitting the Davis car and another driven by John William Miles, 34, of Baltimore. Miles' wife, Mildred, 38, suffered a possible neck injury.

Business Briefs...

NEW YORK (INS)—Kaiser Steel Corp. announced today it will increase its current $113,000,000 expansion program by an additional $81,000,000. The entire program will boost Kaiser Steel's ingot capacity from 1,535,000 tons to approximately 3,000,000 tons annually, virtually doubling its capacity. Principal increases in terms of finished products will be in plate, sheet, tin plate and pipe—products in the greatest demand in the west.

NEW YORK (INS)—A Dun's review of modern industry survey of 93 U. S. companies with $3,300,000,000 overseas plant investment showed that fewer Americans and more foreign personnel are staffing overseas plants than ever before. The 93 firms have a total overseas payroll of $14,973 (including only 1,955 Americans) in 70 companies. The ratio of foreign nationals over American managers and technicians is 125 to 1. The survey also showed that more than 41 per cent of the companies realized from 1 to 10 per cent of their net profit from overseas operations; more than 13 per cent got 11 to 20 per cent of net profit; and 17 per cent, more than 75 per cent of their net profit.

NEW YORK (INS)—General Instrument Corp. announced today that as part of its diversification program in industrial and military electronics, it has acquired Radio Receptor Co., Inc., of Brooklyn, N. Y. Radio Receptor is U. S. licensee for a new advanced type of selenium rectifier developed in West Germany, and also a large scale producer of semi-conductor devices and military equipment.

China's mainland population, estimated at more than 82 million in 1953, is increasing at the rate of 12 million people a year.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Mother and daughter can't stand sight of youth who trails girl admirably.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am writing on behalf of my daughter, in the hope that you can suggest a solution of the problem.

Joyce (I'll call her) is being trailed by a classmate, a high school senior, in almost every move she makes. She is told that he has done the same to other girls throughout his high school years—giving them expensive gifts, and paying all sorts of attention to them.

The awful part is that Joyce can't stand the sight of him. He is almost ugly in appearance, the worst feature being his protruding teeth, braced with dark silver fixtures at present. Also he wears large, thick-lens glasses, which give him a bulge-eyed appearance; and he is much shorter than Joyce, who is quite tall.

How can we make him stop trailing her, walking her home (the high school is close by); and stopping in, now and then, with gifts. Joyce dropped a word about her grandmother's birthday and he even sent her a birthday card!

We hate to insult him outright about his looks, as he is in several classes with Joyce and suppose they do come in contact casually. We've tried our best not to dislike him too much, as it takes all kinds to make a world—but he has become an uncontrollable pest.

Somewhat I feel you will be able to advise us how to put an end to this situation, so please answer soon.—B. K.

DEAR B. K.: It is hard to believe that Joyce fully shares your feelings in this matter; for I believe if she did, she would automatically rout the boy's advances, by the natural reflex of her distaste.

Unless of course she has been so overly-supervised by parents, all her life, that she has lost contact with her real being—hence Jack's spontaneous honesty, vigor and personal effectiveness. In sending off undesirable social pressures.

Possibly Joyce isn't accustomed to having beaux; and perhaps this lad is one of the few, or perhaps the first, to take notice of her. Thus possibly her emotions are unhappily mixed in dealing with him. Maybe she does half-abhor, yet half-encourage him—feeling, uncertainly, that almost any attentions are preferable to none, in the field of boy-girl experience, during teen years.

It may be that your bursting vexation with the homely boy is an unconscious camouflage of another feeling—say anxious dismay. Perhaps you are shocked and disappointed and have a guilty sense of maternal failure—when you behold this sullen and compare him to the prize you had expected (in fantasy), while keeping her closely under your wing. Perhaps you are "taking it out on him," illogically, instead of trying to locate the flaw in Joyce's social equipment.

I gather if the lad were six feet two, with handsome teeth and didn't wear glasses, you'd suffer no distress about his trailing Joyce and giving her presents. At least that's the impression your letter makes—for you offer no criticism of his character, his family, his social connections, his record in school, etc., all of which would shed light on the person he is.

As for what to do: I think wise parents would try to fathom Joyce's inner attitudes and basic handicaps in the situation. Also they would try to get really acquainted with the boy's nature, if he insists on hanging around. Then, if proof emerges that he is indeed a pest, harassing Joyce with unwanted court that she is too polite to repel—due to her habitual subservience to "stronger" minds—they should use common sense to freeze him out. But don't make his looks the issue!

Rather than blindly succumb to the assumption that a homely fellow is objectionable, per se, you might consider the story of Cyrano de Bergerac—whose ugly guise cloaked a nobility of spirit, a greatness of heart, that made him a knightly charmer to those who really knew him.—M.H.

County Issues 10 Building Permits

The Allegany County Assessing Department has issued 10 building permits so far this month for construction costing $40,760.

Misses Regina and Hazel Blank, RD 2, Frostburg, got a permit for a $10,000 storeroom and apartment in District 30, at Zihlman. John Lee Kidwell obtained a permit for a $7,000 frame motel in District 24 near the Eckhart School.

Four other permits were for new residences estimated to cost a total of $18,000. They were obtained by Wesley A. McGraw, RD 5, for a frame dwelling in District 6, Bowling Green; John Evans, Midlothian, in District

19; William B. Vurner, RD 3, Potomac Park, also in District 6; and Mrs. Helen Dillon in District 15, Lonaconing.

Permits for additions to homes were obtained by Humphrey T. Kennard, District 29, LaVale, and Margaret Bible, RD 4, District 16, North Branch. J. E. Brode, District 26, Frostburg, got a permit for a garage, and Charles W. Price obtained one for a concrete block foundation on Valley Road in District 5.

In a city of 500,000 persons, 125,000 now living will eventually develop cancer and 90,000 will die of it, at present rates.

April Storm Brings Snow, Winds To Area

Two Inches Fall In Frostburg And In Garrett County

Western Maryland and the surrounding area caught the skirts of the snow storm that swirled through Ohio and Pennsylvania, and by morning had snow up to two inches in depth.

From Frostburg west there was generally two inches of snow and this morning the State Roads Commission advised the use of chains on highways in Garrett County.

The roads in the mountain tableland were becoming slushy and the roads were reported to be clearing around noon.

Visibility Poor

The high winds and snow began about 10 p. m. yesterday, according to H. E. Weber, Weather Bureau observer at Oakland.

The blowing snow made visibility poor during the night, but by morning the driving situation was much better.

East of Frostburg the snow thinned out to a trace in the LaVale area. While snow was blowing sporadically in the Cumberland area it was melting as it fell.

Frost And Fair Tonight

Temperatures ranged from 25 degrees in Garrett County to 32 degrees in Cumberland.

The forecast for Allegany and Garrett counties calls for tonight to be fair with frost and a low of 24 to 30 degrees.

Tomorrow and Thursday is to be a little warmer and mostly sunny.

East of here in Maryland the winds of gale force blew the rain-storm out to sea.

Heavy Winds Reported

While no record was available for this end of the state, Annapolis had gusts of winds up to 70 miles per hour. At Friendship Airport southwest of Baltimore the instruments recorded 60 miles per hour.

A couple escaped with bruises when their parked trailer virtually disintegrated after it was overturned and rolled along by the wind. They climbed out of it through a hole in the roof.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Haley were taken to the home of their parents in Brunswick where they were treated by a doctor.

Another trailer parked near the Haley's off U. S. Route 310 at Knoxville in Frederick County was also blown over. Its owner was in Florida.

Jury To Get Land Dispute Case Today

Board Says $150,000 Needed To Replace Athletic Field Site

A condemnation case involving the Ridgeley High School athletic field was scheduled to go to a federal court jury in Martinsburg this afternoon.

Final arguments in the U. S. government's case against the Mineral County Board of Education got underway at 2 p. m. A decision was expected late today.

Today's testimony came from three government witnesses in rebuttal to testimony presented by the Board of Education and its witnesses yesterday afternoon.

Testifying were N. Gwynn, Fletcher, Cumberland recreation director; Charles R. Scarlett, draftsman in the Cumberland Engineering Department; and Ralph Thomas, government appraiser for the General Services Administration.

Yesterday afternoon, J. S. Hutson, of Ridgeley and L. H. Shafert, of Cumberland, real estate men, testified that the Board of Education would have to pay nearly $150,000 to obtain 16 adjacent properties to replace the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project. The properties it was testified, include a number of residences.

Also called back to the witness stand yesterday by the school board's attorneys was Melvin M. Heiskell, long-time principal of Ridgeley High School.

Heiskell acknowledged that the school was able to carry on a football program last fall in the reduced field but said other physical education programs could not be conducted in the cramped space. He said the school needed the equivalent of the more than three acres in lost space to conduct an adequate athletic program.

Scarlett told the jury today he had prepared a map of a proposed new field on the residue property in the athletic area.

Fletcher testified that such a field as shown on the map could be installed and would be adequate for a recreation program.

Thomas testified about the length of time taken by the two real estate men in making their appraisal of the 16 properties which the Board said it would need to replace the high school land. Thomas told the jurors it would take him 45 days to make such an appraisal.

Judge Herbert S. Boreman, who is presiding, called the entire jury panel for tomorrow morning and it is expected that a third condemnation case involving Mineral County land will get underway then.

Damage To Parking Meters By Vandals Heavy In City

Who is going to pay for the parking meters that youths are damaging in Cumberland? That was the question presented the City Council yesterday by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson.

Sewage Plant Delayed By Bad Weather

The Mayor and Council yesterday voted two more payments to Robert T. Regester for extended engineering services.

One check, for $533.33 was the 14th extended payment for superimposed improvements at the Lake Gordon water filtration plant.

Another for $5,500 was the 25th for engineering services at the sewage disposal plant.

John J. Long, finance commissioner, asked when the plant will be in operation. The completion date had been set for March.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, said the Mayor Brothers, Inc., of Altoona, the contractor, has been held up by the bad weather of the winter.

However, the contractor is landscaping in the plant's area. The bulk of the machinery has been installed, Nuzum said, but some of it has not been tested.

The council also approved the payment of $5,536 to Moyer Brothers under an order referring to it as "estimate for partial payment 25" for work on the sewage treatment plant.

The fund, covering the period from February 28 to March 30, will be taken from the sewage treatment plant bond account.

Two Injured In Road Accident

Two area women were admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital last night following a one-car accident near Manns Choice. State Police at Bedford said today Nancy Corley, 61, Shellsburg, and Stella Weyant, 46, of RD 1, New Paris, Pa., are in "good" condition at the hospital.

The women were injured when the car in which they were riding overturned near Manns Choice. Following the crash residents of the area turned the car over, and the driver then drove off. State Police apprehended the driver, John K. Castell, RD 1, Manns Choice, on Route 31, near Bedford.

Castell is being detained in Bedford County Jail on motor vehicle charges.

Hospital attaches said the Corley woman sustained a laceration of the left eyebrow and lacerations of her face. The Weyant woman suffered chest and back injuries.

136 Residents Of County To Die Of Cancer In '57

An estimated 136 residents of Allegany county will die of cancer in 1957 and 236 new cases will be diagnosed during the year, a report made public today by the Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division, Inc., American Cancer Society revealed.

In issuing the report, Chapter Chairman William Walsh said that one of the grim facts about cancer today was its predictability.

"In this forecast of cancer rates for our community," he declared, "we must face these hard facts and make sure the Cancer Crusade will receive every bit of support it asks to carry out its life-saving programs."

The annual Cancer Crusade this month has a national goal of $30,000,000. "Allegany county has not yet been assigned its quota for 1957," Walsh added, "but in outlining campaign plans our committee has expressed the hope that we will be able to raise at least twice the $7,000 contributed a year ago."

Based on Allegany county's 1950 population of approximately 50,000, the report estimates that there will be a total of 400 cancer cases under medical care in the county this year, and that about 75 persons will be saved from cancer.

The report states that according to present rates 22,500 residents of the county who are now living will eventually develop cancer, and that of this number 14,400 will die of cancer if the present death rate continues.

Chairman Walsh pointed out that dramatic progress in cancer control has been made, the ratio of lives saved from cancer improving from one in four to one in three now being saved.

"This improvement amounts to at least 30,000 more cancer pa-

Taves Enters Contest For Governorship

Candidate States 'No Commitments' On Rest Of His Ticket

BALTIMORE (AP) — J. Millard Taves finally took the plunge into Maryland's 1958 Democratic race for governor last night and said the water's fine for anyone who wants to run with him.

The 63-year-old State comptroller, announcing his candidacy at a testimonial dinner honoring him on his birthday, said he had "no commitments" on the rest of his ticket.

He acknowledged a willingness to "sit down and talk" with other potential candidates in hope of arriving at an agreement which would satisfy all factions of the strife-ridden party.

Several possibilities

The acknowledgment led to speculation that Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, reportedly interested in the gubernatorial nomination, might become a candidate for the U. S. senatorial nomination instead, while backing Taves for governor.

Other possibilities for a "harmony ticket" included Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert and State Sen. John Grason Turnbull of Baltimore County, both until now mentioned as potential contenders for the gubernatorial nomination.

Taves discounted reports that he had already agreed to "take" George P. Mahoney for his senatorial running mate. Mahoney was among guests at the head table at last night's dinner and has been mentioned as a possible candidate in the senatorial primary. He unsuccessfully sought the governorship and a senate seat twice each.

"I am interested only in the Democratic Party," said Taves. "I have not committed myself to anyone for any other place on the ticket."

About 900 party leaders turned out last night for the comptroller's birthday-testimonial dinner. Virtually every county and Baltimore City district were represented.

Although Taves had strongly indicated beforehand that he planned to announce his candidacy, he did not officially declare himself until the last minute of a 20-minute (WJMR-TV) televised speech.

"I want to talk to you tonight, right here and now and as emphatically as my life," he said, "that in 1958, when campaign

Union Accepts Celanese Pact

A new contract with the Celanese Corporation of America covering hourly-paid workers at the Amcelle plant was ratified by members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union, in meetings last night and today, according to John G. Thomas, union president.

Wage rates were increased ranged from nine to 14 cents per hour. Thomas said both meetings were attended by overflow crowds. Negotiations between the union and Celanese yesterday sealed contract differences on seniority rights.

Thomas said the wage increases will provide nine and 10 cents an hour for most workers and up to 14 cents an hour for top-grade mechanics.

The wage increases will go into effect as of last Sunday, when the working week began, but the contract is effective as of yesterday.

The new contract is for one year and covers about 2,400 hourly-paid workers. The average wage is now $1.91 per hour at the Amcelle plant.

The union negotiators had been authorized to call a strike in voting yesterday by a large majority of the union members in the event a satisfactory agreement had not been reached.

City Delays Discussion On Recreation

Buchholtz Expected To Present Program For Local Department

The Mayor and Council yesterday had to postpone a scheduled discussion on a current "hot potato"—the consolidation of the city parks and the City Recreation Department.

Mayor Roy W. Eves today said William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, told the council when it convened after the regular weekly meeting yesterday that he would not be able to discuss the issue for two weeks.

When the recreation board presented the council with the plan to consolidate the two departments under a recreation director and take it from the Street Department on March 25.

Meeting April 22

At the time, Buchholtz said he had a consolidation plan of his own and would like to present it to the council before the Recreation Board's is acted upon.

Thereupon, Mayor Eves set a meeting for Monday, April 22, at 11 a. m. so the council can make a decision on the recreation department's board's consolidation plan.

After the heated discussion in the March 25 among councilmen and board members, the city recreation director, Gwynn P. Fletcher, since October 1, resigned as of April 22, coincidentally the day the council will meet to decide on the proposed consolidation.

Two Members Resign

Then on Friday, two recreation board members, Chief Judge George Henderson and Lacy Cifala resigned.

Both stated in their letters of resignation they felt that under the present situation they were being kept from doing the job for which they were selected.

Yesterday, Earl Nonemann, local businessman and president of the Hot Stove League, charged the council with using the recreation department as a political football.

He also accused some councilmen of being publicly in favor of recreation, but against in their actions.

Nonemann also said the officers of the Hot Stove League had gone on record in support of the consolidation plan.

The amount requested from the City of Cumberland for the budget of the Health Department for the fiscal year starting July 1, is $13,000 less than for the budget which ends June 30.

The letter from the city cited the financial situation facing Cumberland when the budget is made this summer for the next fiscal year.

Signatures On Petitions Being Checked

Verification of signatures on petitions calling for a referendum on a $500,000 bond issue proposed by the city is underway and estimates are the work will take from one to two weeks.

Mayor Roy W. Eves has expressed the hope the 3,995 names can be checked by next Monday.

In the registration office where work is underway, Mrs. Ruth Mangus, registration clerk, is being assisted by Mrs. Edna Powers, junior stenographer from the Civil Service Commission office, and Mrs. Margaret Mangus, an extra typist hired temporarily for the check.

Mrs. Mangus and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery worked out the verification procedure.

A card system proposed by Eves is being used. Cards have spaces for the petition page number, name as shown on petition, name as shown on registration card and a space to check whether the signed is a qualified voter.

Spaces are provided at the bottom of the card for the checkers to note whether initials were used, if initial or name was transposed, illegible signature, husband's name used by wife, "Mr. and Mrs." signatures, different address, and whether the person has voted.

The students attending were Eugene Cramer, John Cannon, Donald Turley, Regina Eichner, Dorothy Vose, Louise Mirkin, and Martha Miller.

Pay Increase Approved For Board Workers

Approval has been received by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners to raise the salaries of the board clerk and two inspectors by $200 each annually.

J. Millard Taves, state comptroller, wrote Walter C. Capper, board chairman, that the salary increases meet with the approval of his department.

A copy of the letter to Capper was read at today's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. No tax money of the county is involved as the liquor board operates from fees received in the sale of beer, wine and liquor licenses.

After a letter was received from the Mayor and Council of Cumberland today stating that it would be unable to participate in the expense of operating the County Health Department, members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners stated they would insist the $19,500 budget item be paid by the city.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert and Commissioner James Orr said the city had agreed to pay part in the expense of the department under a five-year plan whereby the city's share would be smaller and smaller each year.

Lemmert said he was disappointed at the city officials' attitude but felt they had made the agreement and should live up to it. Gorman E. Gelly, attorney to the county board, told the commissioners they should not accept the decision by the city officials.

Commissioner Orr said that in the future all similar agreements should be made in writing so that there would be no mistake as to the obligation. Lemmert said the original agreement on the five-year plan was a "gentlemen's agreement."

The amount requested from the City of Cumberland for the budget of the Health Department for the fiscal year starting July 1, is $13,000 less than for the budget which ends June 30.

Crossing Plan Subject To Council Okay

Signal Operation Scheduled To Start Sometime In May

Mayor Roy W. Eves said today no crossing watchmen are to be laid off until final acceptance by the city of B&O Railroad-installed traffic signals and gates along Henderson Avenue.

In a statement today, the mayor said:

"At the council meeting yesterday, Mr. Long (John J. Long, finance commissioner) said that an unnamed informant told him that some men watching the Franklin Street crossing will be relieved and gates are going into operation by April 11."

"This morning I was talking with the signal engineer in Baltimore under whose jurisdiction this installation will be in effect and he states definitely that at no time was there any intention of placing one or two gates in operation or laying off watchmen until such time as the signals and gates at all crossings on Henderson Avenue are completed, tested and accepted by the city engineer."

"Furthermore, no crossing watchmen are to be laid off until final acceptance of the installation by the city as provided in our contract with the railroad," the mayor concluded.

B&O Pays Cost

Installation of the lights and gates at various crossings along Henderson Avenue is being paid for by the B&O. Original estimates placed the cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

At yesterday's meeting, Long said he had been informed of the April 11 date and asked if the gates had been accepted by the city.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum replied no, and in answer to another question by Long as to whether he thought they should be installed, Nuzum continued: "The city should have prior notification and all parties interested and the Mayor and City Council should inspect them and have it explained."

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said it was his understanding that lights on all four crossings would have to be synchronized and go into operation at the same time.

To Start In May

Long said he was informed by men working on the B&O that they would be relieved on the Franklin Street crossing and added: "I think they should make sure in that all the safety items should be covered on that before the men are taken off the crossing."

Nuzum pointed out that the city ordinance covering the work states it is done subject to approval of the Mayor and Council.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan in referring to the watchmen, stated "All the men want to stay on the job. My understanding is that eventually the B&O will take care of them."

T. J. Klauenberg, Cumberland Division superintendent of the B&O, said this morning he had talked with the division engineer in Pittsburgh, and been informed that all lights and gates would go into operation sometime in May. All, he added, would be put into operation at once.

The South Cumberland Business Men's Association meets today at 6:30 p. m. at Grace Methodist Church.

A musical program, featuring the Fort Hill Boys' Quartet, will be presented.

Arnold Robertson, president, also announced that the board of directors will meet Tuesday, April 16, at 7:30 p. m. at Liberty Milk Company.

The association is sponsoring the annual Fun Fair again, Robertson said. Dates are May 27-June 1 and the Clyde Smith shows and rides have been contracted for the occasion.

Fun Fair committee chairman are as follows: Nelson W. Russell, executive; Robertson, personnel; Louise Rider, publicity; James Scarpelli, donations; H. Clifford Spiker, supplies; Dr. Blair Stump, finance; Harry Wilson, decorations; Dr. L. R. McKenzie, special events; Harry Shobe and Harry Goss, building and maintenance; John Snyder, police; Raymond Whitehair, first aid.

The baseball President Eisenhower is expected to throw out the 1957 season next week in Washington will be the ten millionth manufactured for the major leagues.

The balls used by both the American and National Leagues are manufactured by A. G. Spalding & Bros., Inc., a firm that has been doing business at the same stand since 1876.

The company's founder, Albert Goodwill Spalding, was manager, captain and star pitcher of the Chicago team. He had a 46-13 record that year, and in the two immediately preceding seasons had won 52 and 56 games.

He also is responsible for the pretty but baseless fable that attributes the "invention" of baseball to Abner Doubleday.

Technically, there is no difference between the balls used by the two leagues, although the National League ball is stamped "Spalding" and the American League spheroid bears the imprint of the A. J. Reacliff Co., another sporting goods company, which was absorbed by Spalding.

Historically, the evolution of the baseball occurred in three stages. First it was all yarn wound, then it progressed to a large, rubber center and finally to the present cushion cork center. The makers deny that a live rabbit dwells in the core.

The original Spalding ball was the same size as today's — nine to nine and a quarter inches in circumference. But the stitching in those early days was flatter, and went only about 75 per cent of the way around the ball instead of all the way as is now the case.

The cover in Spalding's pitching heyday had 360 single stitches. Today's ball requires 108 double stitches. Each ball is stitched by hand in about ten minutes, no machine yet having been contrived to do the job satisfactorily.

Time was when even a game of the importance of a World Series contest called for only a couple of balls to be used. Now the average is about 60 per game. Ball clubs order about one thousand dozens per season, more than the entire league used back in 1876.

Sports Log Residue

Johnny Lang, former Fort Hill and LaSalle high football coach, is quick to agree with St. Vincent coach Al DeLuca that times have changed drastically in the past 30 years. The Cumberland finance commissioner says it's difficult to believe how the University of Maryland has sprung up in the past 25 years. When Johnny attended Catholic University in the late 1920s, he said there were only three buildings on the Maryland campus. Today, you almost need an adding machine and field glasses to count all of the buildings on the sprawling picturesque layout at College Park. Long look in a spring scrimmage session of the Maryland football team a few days ago while visiting College Park where he was a speaker at fire extension school. While Johnny was watching Tommy Mont send his terps through their workouts, there was athletic activity all around. On an adjacent field, Maryland was playing Dartmouth in baseball, while another nearby field found the national champion Terps cagging Harvard in lacrosse. And, on still another field, the Maryland freshman lacrosse team was playing. Johnny looked like a spectator at a ping-pong match trying to keep up with all of the action. Getting back to DeLuca, it's our opinion he is one of the most entertaining sports-dinner speakers in the business. Al spoke at the local Dapper Dan dinner two years ago, but his speech was so close to the tag end of a dragging program that it couldn't be fully appreciated. The St. Vincent College coach, who was in the service with Fort Hill football ball team during World War II, is a master at telling stories in dialect. Several of the "cuties" he told are worth repeating. For instance, he says husbands refer to their wives many times as "Angel" for three reasons: (1) They're UP IN THE AIR over nothing; (2) they HARP over nothing and (3) they're always complaining that they don't have an EARTHLY thing to wear. Another story has to do with a youngster in English class. As a test was about to be given, the boy raised his hand and told the teacher, "I ain't got no pencil." That kind of language brought this remark from the teacher: "Johnny, it's I don't have a pencil, you don't have a pencil." To which the blase student quickly retorted: "Well, then, who in the h— has all the pencils?"

Braves Picked To Dethrone Dodgers In 1957

Improving Pittsburgh Chosen For Fifth Place

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (A)—The strongest pitching staff in the National League, a well-balanced power attack and a burning desire to atone for their frightful 1956 fall collapse should combine to bring the Milwaukee Braves their first championship.

It's not going to be easy. The Braves have weaknesses at second base, left field and in the bullpen. Position for position, they are not as set as either Brooklyn or Cincinnati. The feeling here is, however, that Manager Fred Haney's Braves will outlast the Dodgers and Redlegs because:

1. There is a very good chance Milwaukee will complete a deal with New York for second baseman Red Schoendienst.

2. Brooklyn will badly miss retired Jackie Robinson.

3. Cincinnati hasn't been able to bolster its weak pitching staff.

No other club appears capable of offering any serious resistance. The St. Louis Cardinals have a better looking team than last year but they still have a grave problem in center field and are not too secure in other positions.

Pittsburgh is another improved club, but the Pirates are shy on power and have only two reliable pitchers.

Phil's Have Only Pitching
The Philadelphia Phillies have potent pitching but little else. The New York Giants, stripped by Uncle Sam of their young stars, are attempting to plug the vacancies to ease the strain a bit for Willie Mays. Chicago has Bob Schefeling, a new manager. Unfortunately, he is not a playing manager.

How they'll finish in the National this year:

1. Milwaukee
2. Brooklyn
3. Cincinnati
4. St. Louis
5. Pittsburgh
6. Philadelphia
7. New York
8. Chicago

The Braves are standing pat with a team that tossed away the pennant last year and is going to find it hard to forget. But Haney is counting on Robinson's impugning remarks to light the much-needed fire. The boys are still seething over Jackie's off-the-cuff remarks that gay times and late hours were directly responsible for their pennant loss.

Count On Key Men
Haney, who is doing his best to keep the blaze red hot, is counting on several of his key men—Dixie Matthews, Del Crandall, Danny O'Connell and Bobby Thomson—doing a better job. He has no worries regarding Johnny Logan, the most underrated shortstop in the league; Hank Aaron; Joe Adcock; and Bill Bruton.

He has tremendous pitching depth even though Warren Spahn, his 36-year-old ace, may not win 20. Bob Buhl, Lew Burdette, Gene Conley, Ray Crone, Taylor Phillips, Bob Trowbridge, Red Murfitt and maybe Juan Pizarro bode ill for opposing batters.

There is a growing suspicion that this is the year when "old age" really will catch up with the Braves.

The return from service of southpaw Johnny Podres and the development of youngsters Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax will help, but can Sal Maglie, 40; Roy Campanella, 36; PeeWee Reese, 37; and Carl Furillo, 35, keep up the pace?

Holman Tests Giant African

PORTLAND, Ore. (A)—Johnny Holman, the veteran Chicago heavyweight, will attempt to find out tonight just how tough is the giant South African, Ewart Potgieter.

Holman says Potgieter's size—he's 7 feet, 3 inches tall and weighs 325 pounds—doesn't frighten him.

"All I have to do is tag him, and he'll drop," the confident Holman said.

But Holman, until recently ranked among the nation's top 10 heavyweights, will be giving away 125 pounds. He is much faster, of course, than the lumbering South African. The question is whether his sharper punching can outpoint or stop Potgieter before the big punches slow him down.

In his last outing, against a relatively inexperienced fighter, Potgieter ended the career of 260-pound Bruce Olson. Knocked out, Olson had to undergo brain surgery to save his life. Retired from the ring, he is recovering now.

GOOD NAMES
INDIANAPOLIS (NEA)—The Indianapolis club training at Hollywood, Fla., had on the roster Frank Bragan, 24-year-old infielder and brother of Bobby, the Pirates' manager, and Hal Trosky, 29-year-old pitcher and son of the former Indian first baseman.

BIRDIE KING
NEW YORK (NEA)—Tommy Bolt holds the PGA tournament record for consecutive birdies with seven.

In 30 years at Colby College, the late Eddie Roudy coached all major sports except track.

'CHAMPIONSHIP FEEL'—Jim Fortner (left), physical director of the Central YMCA, extends a hand of congratulations to Lou Baker, coach of the undefeated St. Luke's Lutheran basketball team. The Columbia Streeters completed a 25-0 record in winning the "Y" Sunday School League pennant and playoffs. Baker holds the Lynn Lashley and Loyd Order of Moose trophies presented to the St. Luke's team at last night's post-season dinner.

Mont Moans About Tough Grad Lineup

By GEORGE BOWEN
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (A)—

Coach Tommy Mont could hardly talk for drooping over the "probable lineup" for Saturday's football game at Maryland.

"How are you going to choose at tackle from among the likes of Stan Jones, Dick Modzelewski, Ray Krouse, Bob Morgan and Mike Sandusky?" he asked.

"At center there are Bob Peligrini and John Irvine.

"Halfback is real tough. Ronnie Waller, Chet Hanulak, Ed Vereb and Dick Nolan.

"Fullback is no easier. Ed Modzelewski or Dick Bielski.

"At quarterback, there are Jack Scarrath, Bernie Faloney and Lynn Beightal."

At that point, a listener interrupted to ask "which team are you coaching?"

Mont sadly confirmed the list he named wasn't his. It is the Alumni who will play his varsity in the annual climax to Maryland's spring football practice.

By contrast, the closest follower of Maryland football last year would not recognize more than about a dozen names on the 50-man varsity squad listed for the game.

Even the returning lettermen still have to make names for themselves after being able to win only two games last season.

However, Coach Mont feels he has a better knit group than last season which virtually fell apart in a rash of injuries.

Canadiens Shoot For No. 2 Today

MONTREAL (A)—"If I had to go out and shoot somebody," said defenseman Bob Armstrong of the Boston Bruins in what was assumed to be a joking mood, "there's only one man it would be. He wears No. 9."

"No. 9," as every member of the Bruins is well aware, is the Montreal Canadiens' Maurice (The Rocket) Richard. In fact, as far as the Bruins are concerned, Richard is the Canadiens.

All of which means the Hockey Frenchmen of the National Hockey League, already heavily favored, may have an easier time than expected tonight in the forum when they shoot for a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven-games final series for the Stanley Cup.

While the Bruins are laying the wood (that's not necessarily a figurative expression) to Richard, the rest of the Canadiens may find openings to grab some headlines from the 35-year-old Rocket.

What makes Richard the No. 1 objective for the Bruins is that four-goal job he did on them Saturday night as Montreal won the opener here 5-1.

Ortiz, Filippo In Return Bout

HOLLYWOOD (A)—Lightweight title contender Carlos Ortiz of New York and Lou Filippo of Los Angeles go into the right at Hollywood Stadium tonight to settle their controversial no decision fight here March 2.

Ortiz flattened his 31-year-old foe with a blow to the stomach just after the bell sounded to end the ninth round, and Filippo was out for more than a minute as a near riot ensued.

Ripito was originally awarded the scrap, slated for 10 rounds, on a foul, but later the outcome was ruled a no decision affair, California has a no-foul rule.

First Dave Kauffman Award Given First Methodist Team

The First Methodist basketball team received the first annual Dave Kauffman Sportsmanship Trophy at last night's Central YMCA Sunday School League dinner in the "Y" gym.

Earl Nonnenmann, donor of the trophy, in making the presentation, said the award is in memory of the sports-minded local attorney who died last October.

An ardent backer of local athletics, Kauffman exemplified everything for which sportsmanship stands, Nonnenmann declared.

First Methodist was declared winner of the award by a vote of the league coaches and referees.

Lou Baker walked away from the annual affair loaded down with trophies. As coach of St. Luke's Lutheran champions, who went through the season and playoffs undefeated, compiling a 25-0 record, Baker was presented the Lynn C. Lashley and Loyd Order of Moose trophies.

James Bishop, first president of the basketball league, awarded the Lashley trophy which is emblematic of the playoff championship. The Moose trophy is for the regular season title. This was given by Raymond J. Smith, governor of the local Moose lodge.

Individual trophies were presented by R. E. "Jack" Livingston, president of the league, and Coach Baker to the 11 members of the winning team. They are John Fradiska, Robert Gaffney, David Gehauf, Fred Hartung, Stephan Klavuhn, Jerry Langham, Robert Roeder, Hansel Shirliffe, Gary Yutz, Joseph Yutz and Lynn Workmeister.

Fortner lauded the "unsung heroes," such as scorekeepers, timers and referees, who were responsible for the smooth functioning of the league. Singled out for the performance of these duties were Jack Chisholm, Russ Robertson, Lee Taylor, Ray Easton, Bill Jewell, Ed Brode, Rennie Riggs and Bob Harvey.

Boston Celts At Crossroad In Tilt Today

BOSTON (A)—The Boston Celts stand at the crossroads tonight in their National Basketball Assn. playoff game with St. Louis.

Boston never has had the lead in the best-of-seven series against the Hawks to date but has managed to rally twice. The teams are locked in a 2-2 standoff.

Bidding for their first championship in the 11-year history of the NBA, favored Boston must make its bid now.

If the Celts lost tonight in friendly Boston Garden, they would be prime candidates for elimination in St. Louis Thursday.

Bank On Cousy, Russell
St. Louis can lose tonight and be in a favorable position to tie things up again at home.

Hometown fans hope that the improvement in the play of backcourt ace Bob Cousy and rookie pivot sensation Bill Russell will assure a triumph.

Cousy, always outstanding playmaker, had taken a tumble from his shooting peak since his Feb. 22 injury until Sunday night.

Bounding Bob tallied 31 points—including 11 field goals—in the team's 123-118 victory at St. Louis. Russell, 6-10 rebounding and defensive specialist, appears to have recovered from a back ailment which plagued him through the first three contests of the series.

Hawks May Plans
Meanwhile, the battling Hawks mapped plans to ruin the home showing and capture the title in quick thrusts tonight and Thursday.

The Hawks have been doing the unexpected so far in their determined bid to hustle their way to the top. When the Celts have demonstrated rebounding superiority, St. Louis has answered with great shooting. And when the Celts were shooting their best, the Hawks commanded the backboards.

In the four games to date, Boston has a 270-227 edge in rebounds. Bob Pettit of St. Louis is the individual scoring leader with 111 points or a 27.5 average.

D'Amato Ponders Offer For Title Bout In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Cus D'Amato, who managed Floyd Patterson to the heavyweight championship, is marking time pending a federal court decision on monopoly charges against the International Boxing Club.

So far, he admits giving "serious consideration" to a $175,000 offer from Philadelphia toy manufacturer Nick Troilo to promote a July 4th bout with Hurricane Jackson at Municipal Stadium.

D'Amato says he has other bids, but regards Troilo and his associates as "more solid."

However, Cus is looking beyond Patterson's initial title defense. He would like to make sweet music with a new promoter who would come on the television scene if the anti-trust action forced the IBC to drop one of its weekly TV promotions.

"I would be glad to cooperate with a new promoter to establish boxing on a competitive promotional basis," he said.

D'Amato emphasized that his pique with the IBC and its president, James D. Norris, is real. He explained:

"The relationship between Norris and me is strained because he failed to keep promises he made to use my preliminary buys and I feel his word isn't reliable."

Asked whether this ruled out any possibility of sending his champion into the ring under the Norris banner, he hedged that "Nothing is impossible, but (Continued on Page 13)

Alston 'Sure' Top Flingers Will Be Ready

By MIKE RATHET
The Associated Press

Manager Walter Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers has been singing a confident tune this spring, but the plight of his first-line pitchers could find him whistling the blues.

Not one of Alston's big four—Roger Craig, Don Newcombe, Sal Maglie, and Johnny Podres—has gone nine innings in a grapefruit league game.

Podres, released from the Navy because of a bad back, has managed to stick around for seven innings. Newcombe has gone six three times, Maglie has gone six and Craig has reached five.

But the Dodger skipper maintains "It's not necessary for a man to go nine in these games," and figures his twirlers will be ready for the season opener a week from today.

Craig was bounced in the second inning for a pinch hitter yesterday after giving up five runs in the first as the Dodgers bowed to the Milwaukee Braves 2-5 at Oklahoma City.

It was the Braves' fourth consecutive success over the Dodgers and over-all gave them a 6-2-1 record against the defending National League champions.

Ken Lehman absorbed the rest of the Milwaukee pounding while Ray Crone and Bob Trowbridge brought the Braves spring record to 18-8 against major league competition. The Dodgers are 13-15. Charley Neal and Gene Ciminelli hit homers for the Braves.

Elsewhere, Boston's Red Sox ended a six-game losing streak by defeating Pittsburgh 8-7 in 10 innings at Fort Myers, Fla.; Chicago's White Sox shut out St. Louis 3-0 at Charlotte, N.C.; Philadelphia downed Detroit at Clearwater 6-4; the New York Giants edged Cleveland 3-1 in a game held to five innings by rain at Mobile, Ala.; and Baltimore beat Chicago's Cubs 6-5.

Milt Bolling hit a homer in the 10th for Boston's victory.

Left-hander Jack Harshman and reliever Dixie Howell combined to limit the Cardinals to seven hits.

Ed Bouchee led a 12-hit Phillies attack on Detroit pitchers Paul Foytack and Jack Crimian with a homer, single and double.

Dusty Rhodes got a two-run homer and Foster Castellan a solo for the Giants.

Bob Nieman drove in five Orioles runs, one with a homer.

Cartier Hangs Up Mitts, Goes Back To Acting On TV

NEW YORK (AP)—From now on Walter Cartier is strictly an actor. The onetime middleweight contender hung up his gloves today, ending a brief fling in a double career of television acting and boxing.

Handsome Walter announced his retirement from the ring after suffering a deep cut over the right eye last night in losing on a third-round technical knockout to Jackie Labau, East Meadow, N.Y., in a telecast bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

The 33-year-old New Yorker, who portrays Pfc. Claude Dillingham in Phil Spector's Sgt. Ernie Potts television show, said, "I just don't have it. I could see that right away."

"I was pushing my punches. It was laborious. I was even wondering if I was throwing too many and if I would have anything left. When you get that way you might as well quit. I'll stick to acting. Cartier, who started out as a pro 11 years ago, was making his second comeback fight. He had beaten Eddie Andrews at Holyoke, Feb. 18. That had been his first fight since he quit 2½ years ago to become a television actor.

Outwardly, Cartier, at 159½, looked in fine shape. But he was slow and his reflexes were shot. At that he was even with the 24-year-old, 157½-pound Labau through the three rounds.

IBC Stranglehold Test Begins Today

NEW YORK (INS)—Both the International Boxing Club and the government will file recommendations in federal court today to break the IBC's asserted stranglehold on boxing and open the door for independent fight promoters.

The government and the IBC will present their recommendations to federal judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who ruled on March 8 that the IBC was a monopoly in the promotion of world championship fights.

Judge Ryan's decision said the IBC was operating in violation of the Sherman Act, the chief anti-trust law. Once the recommendations are filed, hearings will be held to determine a final court order to the IBC.

PIPING HOT NOW
FORT WORTH (ONEA)—Ernie Vossler, one of the better newcomers to professional golf, was in his father's plumbing business until 1954.

Lowell Dertinger, of Wyoming, holds the Skyline Conference record for the 100 yard butterfly swim—one minute, 5.3 seconds.

Big Breaks For Youth Cited By DeLuca In LaSalle Talk

Football players who hold down so-called inglorious positions on the line received a measure of consolation from remarks made last night at St. Peter and Paul Parish Hall by Al DeLuca, head coach at St. Vincent College. DeLuca, a former star at Duquesne University, was principal speaker at last night's awards dinner for LaSalle High given by the Mothers Club of the school.

DeLuca pointed out that the guard or tackle feels the joy of victory just as much as the half-back who runs 60 yards for a touchdown or the fellow who kicks the extra point which wins the game. To the linemen, he declared: "Just remember, you were there—and you were necessary."

The Bearcat mentor pointed out that America is a land of opportunities "and today young people have more opportunities than ever before." To the underdog men he warned not to believe that old adage, "Opportunity knocks but once." Opportunity, he added, is knocking every day but not enough take advantage, as evidenced by the fact that every year 4,000,000 American boys and girls start high school but only 2,000,000 ever graduate.

Times Change Rapidly
"It's a sad day when you talk to seniors and then they tell you, 'If I had only taken advantage of all my chances!'"
Pointing out how times have changed drastically in the past 30 years, DeLuca said the youngsters of today are equipped with self starters, have power steering to get out of the ruts and a tank full of high octane enthusiasm.
The inspiring talk by the polished speaker was interspersed with humorous anecdotes, most of which he related in dialect. He also waxed poetic and quoted Shakespeare.

A speech made by the president of a large steel firm reminded DeLuca of high school sports. In his talk, the layman declared, "We know everything about the friction between metals, but not nearly enough about the friction between people."
"This is so true of high school sports," said DeLuca. "In scholastic sports we are dealing with a lot of friction such as overenthusiastic parents, school administrators and others."

Warren Spahn Takes To Sea In Raft

BRADENTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Warren Spahn, ace southpaw of the Milwaukee Braves, had an unusual hobby this spring. After workouts he would drive 14 miles to his Anna Maria cottage, inflate a 16-foot Navy rubber life raft and row in the Gulf of Mexico. One day a pitching teammate, Lou Burdette, drove up from Sarasota and joined Spahn for an hour in the raft.
The raft belongs to Warren's wife, LoRene, who uses it fishing in a lake on their farm at Hartshorne, Okla.

Ed Mathews Feels Certain Of Good Year

HOUSTON, Tex. (INS)—Milwaukee third baseman Eddie Mathews has that spring feeling—the old 1953 feeling—and Braves fans hope that it points to the National League pennant.
"I just feel it in my bones," the handsome slugger said, and added:
"I have the same kind of feeling now that I had in 1953 and I had a pretty good year. Some how, I know I'm going to have a great year."

Mathews had his finest year in 1953 when he batted .302, blasted 47 homers and drove in 135 runs. Successor To Babe
At that stage of his career, Mathews was being hailed as the successor to Babe Ruth.

But since 1953, Mathews' home run production has dwindled although he collected 118 homers in the next three years.
"I'm just swinging to get a single now," Eddie said, adding:
"I'm not trying to pull the ball at all. I'm just trying to sharpen my eye and get a piece of the ball. Nor am I trying to hit to the opposite field. Any hits that have gone to left—and I've poked quite a few in that direction—are purely accidents."

Mathews has been under the watchful eye of coach Paul Waner, former Pittsburgh great. Eddie now says that he is placing all his confidence in the former "Big Poison."

Physically speaking, Mathews is as fit as he was in the spring of '53. He is not bothered with his usual assortment of spring disorders—bad back and a rash.
In the winter of 1955, Mathews went on an ill-advised diet and when he showed up at the Bradenton spring camp a year ago, he weighed 185 pounds.

"I also started swinging (38-ounce) bat," Eddie said. "It didn't help matters either," he added, and said:
"This spring I'm using a 32-ounce club and I can feel the improvement. I can come around much quicker."

Just Over Best Weight
Eddie has taken his time getting into shape this spring. When the club broke camp last Sunday, he was just three pounds over the 200 he expects to maintain throughout the season.

Mathews gives much of the credit to manager Fred Haney. Eddie said:
"Fred told me I'm one of those guys who has to play a lot to sharpen my batting eye. I think that's one of the big reasons I had that good season in 1953."

Mathews blames his poor showing in 1956 to the fact that he did not play enough in the spring.
"I'm not going to worry about the home run any more," Eddie smiled and added:
"I'll let guys like (Willie) Mays and (Duke) Snider take care of that department. What good does it do a team if a guy hits around 40 home runs but fails to drive in 100 runs? That's what happened to me last year."

Dupas brushed aside any discussion on the racial furor centering around him last week when a Plaquemines Parish, La., woman accused him of having Negro parents.

"I didn't worry about that business . . . That was just a lot of baloney and I forgot about it." The State Athletic Commission overruled the woman's allegations. Such accusations if proved would have prevented Dupas from meeting white fighters in Louisiana.

Pittsburgh Plate Admitted To Rocking Chair Circuit

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's softball team was admitted to the Rocking Chair League at a meeting last night in the Loyal Order of Moose Home. Admission of the Platers makes the league a nine-team affair and efforts will be made to add a tenth before the season dorf, secretary, and Frank "Pop" Trozzo, treasurer.

It was announced that the Celanese diamond will be used as one of the league fields this season. Next meeting of the circuit is scheduled for Friday, May 3, at the Outdoor Club.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, April 10, 1957:

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Mixed vibrations. Well managed financial transactions, new and unique undertakings could prove profitable. Also favorable artistic work and domestic interest. Caution is stressed in mechanical work, however.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—A day for sensible action and forethought. Avoid recklessness. Mechanical work, handling heavy objects or dangerous tools, railroadings, etc., will require close attention. Good areas will pay. MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Be meticulous about details. Keeping appointments and promises; also be careful of health. Day can further your interests, prove fruitful if managed wisely. Don't worry.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—Your blood, Jupiter, and Uranus, well aspected, now indicate headway in financial interests, personal affairs; also in new and unusual projects, methods, ideas. Be wisely careful.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—Your vibrations are sensible and sound; discretion to avoid hazards or misunderstandings. Be serene, cooperative; do your best at your tasks, then enjoy free time relaxing.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—If problems arise, handle them with understanding, patience and tact. They will then fade away and leave you unexpected benefits in return. A fine day for money interests, business expansion.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—Pleasant if not wholly prosperous day. The day can be fruitful in matters connected with travel, medicine, oils, chemicals, also for new profitable ideas, inventions, etc. Try harder to achieve.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—You can garner many good things this day if you are consistently industrious and don't waste time on essentials or with idlers. You have the ability to make good with little material; do now.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Your planet, Jupiter, auspiciously placed, now indicates gains, advancement in both occupational and personal interests. But don't be too demanding.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn)—If you are selective in your course of action and patient with irritating persons and situations, you can have a really satisfactory period. Neither overwork nor underestimate possibilities.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Your will to achieve should be strong, with Uranus, Neptune and Jupiter all in your favor now. Quickly recognize which tasks are really important and execute them with faith and determination.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Friendly leanings in your sector. Be loyal, be your discriminating, careful self and you can zoom ahead with alacrity, confidence.

YOU BORN TODAY are generous, noble, very capable with unusual qualities for leadership. You are unusually tactful, gracious; can gather knowledge, courage and quickly, and will distinguish that knowledge where it will do the most good. People in your particular sector of the Zodiac are generally well informed and of delightful personality.

ally when at their best. You are sometimes too self-assured for your own good, although you are also sensitive and willing to give to others the benefit of your fine creative ideas. You can succeed in any undertaking you like and for which you fit yourself. Butcher: William Heston, critic, essayist; William Booth, founder of Salvation Army.

'Wide World' Expert Has Skill

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—A basic rule of the game with Wide World is that everything must be done in live television, with no film allowed.

This makes the game of capturing themes and scenes of American life both more difficult and exhilarating.

Finding proper location scenes and appropriate talent (nearly always amateur) for Wide World is the job of a dark-haired, energetic woman named Evelyn Lifschultz, who has coined for herself the title of "location producer."

Like several members of the NBC program's staff, she's seldom in New York.

"I've had troubles," Miss Lifschultz said, "but 90 per cent of them are technical. In general the American people can't do enough for you—even those who never saw a television set."

Take the Apache Indians. The United States never really subdued the Apaches—but Miss Lifschultz did. The scene was Tombstone, Ariz., some time ago when Wide World decided it needed a couple of hundred Indians. The nearest were 150 miles away.

Apaches who had had their wagers standards inflated by Hollywood movie-makers on location.

Hastening to the reservation, Miss Lifschultz conferred in solemn pow-wow with chiefs for several days. At the conclusion the chiefs presented a meticulous proposed bill that worked out to a cost of $25,000 for 200 Apaches delivered to Tombstone. (This is one tough tribe.) Knowing that Robert Sarnoff and other NBC chiefs in New York would let out a war whoop at this bill, Miss Lifschultz made powerful medicine.

She singled out a smart young Apache and made him a "package."

Red Teens Seek Jobs

MOSCOW — Russian teenagers who wish to work are having trouble finding jobs, say the "Literary Gazette." Most industrial plants refuse them because they require training, work two hours a day less than adults, and frequently leave to seek higher education.

Rain Halts Bootleggers

RICHMOND, Va. — Richmond police say a three-week rainy spell brought unusually dry conditions for those who consume illegal liquor. An officer, who said he hadn't seen an illegal bottle for a week, said the rains prevented moonshiners from operating stills, "working" mash or getting it out of their swampy hideouts.

Clothed Nudes

Daniela De Volterra was called "the painter of big breeches" because he was hired to paint cloaks over some of the nude figures in Michelangelo's "Last Judgment."

136 Residents

Patients being saved annually. But there is the tremendous task of saving an additional 75,000 Americans annually from cancer who are now dying only because treatment is not started in time.
"Of every six Americans who develop cancer today, two will be saved and four will die. One of the four who die will be lost needlessly. The other three who die will be lost to cancers which science cannot yet control."
"The American Cancer Society's three-point program of research, education and service is designed to meet the problems posed by cancer. With the continued support and cooperation of the public and all interested agencies for the Cancer Crusade, we are confident that cancer can be eliminated as a major health problem."

There are only 300 to 400 professional astronomers in the United States.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER
Most glamorous car in a generation

No other car even challenges its performance!

Here are some figures for comparison. We believe they talk louder than words, and that you will find this message worth reading.

So much has been said about the good looks of the 1957 Chrysler that you may have the impression its reputation rests on styling alone. The truth is it's even more impressive in action. Three performance figures prove this. Here is the first: Chrysler's Firepower V-8 engine packs 325 hp (and up to 375 hp in the Chrysler 300-C), tops in the industry.

Is horsepower the only way you judge performance? Certainly not. There's engine displacement and torque. Chrysler's displacement is 392 cu. in. What about torque, the real pay-dirt power that turns the wheels? Chrysler's torque is 430 lb.-ft. at 2800 rpm, again tops in the industry.

More power than you need? Maybe. But it means unquestioned command of the highway when you want it. It means your Chrysler will stay like new much longer because it can loaf where other cars strain. So you see, when we call this car the Mighty Chrysler we mean just that . . . the mightiest on the highway! Come in and drive it soon.
